FLYING FORTRESSES JOIN INDIA DEFENCE

Big U.S. Planes Fire Jap Warship

Transport Also Left In Flames

By The Canadian Press

Giant U. S. army flying fortress bombers, striking for the first time from bases in India, were credited officially today with leaving a Japanese cruiser and a transport in flames and probably damaging two other ships in the Bay of Bengal.

At the same time, Washington quarters painted a brighter picture for the Allies in the nearly four-months-old war with Japan, declaring that the tide of aerial supremacy in the southwest Pacific is believed to be turning and that navy shipbuilding is now far ahead of losses.

Since Pearl Harbor, the navy has launched 16 destroyers, a battleship, two cruisers, two aircraft tenders and a number of other craft. In addition, the official published list shows 17 battleships, 12 aircraft carriers and 35 cruisers under construction as of June 30, 1941.

DARWIN, Australia, April 4.—(UP)—United Nations air forces shot down six Japanese planes over Kupang, Netherlands Timor, yesterday and four more over Darwin, it was announced today.

GENERAL IN CHARGE

A New Delhi communique, the first issued by U.S. air force headquarters in India, said Maj.-Gen. Lewis Brereton, the commander, personally led the Flying Fortress attack on Japanese warships in the Bay of Bengal.

The communique said a squadron on the bombers, defying intense anti-aircraft fire, blasted the enemy's shipping at Port Blair in the Japanese-occupied Andaman Islands. Port Blair is 600 miles from Calcutta and 800 miles from Ceylon, the nearest likely bases for the attack.

"All our aircraft returned safely," the communique said.

Japanese fliers bombed storied Mandalay and two other towns in central Burma behind the British-Chinese lines. A communique said a hospital was set afire, but declared there was no military damage at Mandalay and that the aerial toll elsewhere was inconsequential.

Withdrawal of British covering forces on the Irrawaddy valley front to main defence positions north of P r o m e proceeded satisfactorily yesterday despite heavy plane and infantry attacks.

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP)—The navy department announced today that a small Canadian merchant vessel, a medium-sized United States merchant vessel and a medium-sized Latvian merchantman had been torpedoed and sunk.

The U.S. merchantman was torpedoed off the Atlantic coast and the other two in the Caribbean area several weeks ago. No further details were disclosed.

LEADER IS "DISAPPOINTED"

Moslems Indicate India Plan Unsatisfactory

NEW DELHI, April 4. — (CP) — Declaring Britain's plan for post-war Indian dominion status would "Keep Moslems tied to the chariot wheels of Hindudom," Mohammed Ali Jinnah indicated today that the autonomy proposal already rejected by the powerful All-India Congress party also was unsatisfactory to his Moslem League.

Jinnah, leader of India's second largest party, expressed disappointment that the "entity and integrity of the Moslem nation was not expressly recognized" in the offer outlined by Sir Stafford Cripps in an effort to bring the Indians wholeheartedly into the war effort.

The all-India Congress working committee met for about two hours today.

Dr. Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, congress president, said the meeting considered the situation in Bengal and Assam in view of the warfare nearing from Burma, and discussed what lead the organization should give the country.

Heavy Demand Cycle Licenses At Civic Block

Applications for bicycle licenses at the city license department during the past five days broke all previous records, stated Thomas McCallum, license inspector, Saturday, and tags issued since the beginning of the year are now more than 100 per cent greater than at the same date last year.

During the past five days 885 licenses were issued to bring the total for this year to 4,164, compared with about 2,245 at the same date last year. Highest day's sale of licenses was 285, Mr. McCallum stated.

The recent spring-like weather contributed materially to the sale of licenses, and added that another factor was the purchase by residents of bicycles to replace motor car transportation which is drastically curtailed through gasoline rationing.

EXPECT SHORTAGE

A survey of departmental stores and bicycle shops indicates that a severe shortage of bicycles may be expected, as manufacturers have indicated that a rationing system will be used in future supplies. In fact, stated the manager of one store, this rationing has been in effect as far as Canadian manufacturers are concerned since last fall.

One company, at that time, intimated that only one-third of the season's orders could be filled. The reason given was the transfer of the plant's operations from civil to defence work.

The shortage of bicycles in Edmonton, especially ladies' bicycles, is now acute, and the survey showed that less than 20 unsold bicycles were available on Saturday morning.

Two Killed, Seven Missing In Crash

Allies To Regain Air Superiority In Burma

By ROBERT P. MARTIN

CHUNGKING, April 4.—(BUP)—Col. Claire L. Chennault, whose American "Flying Tigers" have written an epic chapter in courage and daring, predicted today that the Royal Air Force and the American volunteer group would regain aerial superiority over Burma.

"This enemy superiority won't continue," the sun-tanned Louisianan told his colleagues grimly.

Although a superior Japanese air force has seized virtual air command of the Burma front, Chennault and his aides expressed confidence that reinforcements soon would arrive at Allied bases.

The AVG commander indicated that American flying fortresses now in India would shortly be in action against the Japanese in Burma. Badly needed Allied fighter planes, it was believed, also are expected.

Since the British and Americans drove the Japanese from the Burma and China skies early in the war, the enemy has sent heavy aerial reinforcements to bases in Thailand and the Irrawaddy delta.

Cost-Of-Living Index Advances Only Fraction

OTTAWA, April 4— (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today that the official cost-of-living index at March 2 was 118.9 compared with 118.7 a month before and 109.8 at the outbreak of the war.

"The March increase was due entirely to the food index which moved up from 123.1 to 123.7," the bureau said.

"Small advances occurred for butter, meats and fish, potatoes and bananas, while eggs and lemons declined moderately.

OTHERS UNCHANGED

"Other group indexes remained unchanged, as follows: rents 111.2, fuel and light 112.9, clothing 119.8, home furnishings and services 118, and miscellaneous items 107.1."

The increase at March 2 was the second increase in the official barometer of living costs since the November index figure of 116.3 was made public. At Dec. 1 Canada's new price-fixing policy—a general ceiling over virtually all commodities and a wide range of services—went into effect.

The bureau's Feb. 2 index figure of 118.7 compared with 118.4 at Jan. 2

The increase in this month's cost-of-living index makes no change in cost-of-living bonuses. Under provisions of the wages stabilization program, part of the government's anti-inflation policy, changes in the bonus are based on the rise and fall of the index.

Missing Ottawa Boy Is Located

OTTAWA, April 4.—(CP)—Nine-year-old Arthur Paquette, missing from his home since last Wednesday, was found early today in the hayloft of a barn at the rear of a hotel, a search estimated for two other missing persons—a small boy and a 76-year-old man.

Arthur was located by an Ottawa reporter. He said he left home because "I hate going to school."

Donald Taylor of Ottawa has not been seen since he disappeared Wednesday afternoon and fears mounted for his safety when another cold night passed and he was still missing.

The third person whom police were seeking was Arthur Powney. He has not been seen since he left for a walk, Thursday.

Nazi Photos Show Raid On Luebeck Was Catastrophic

BERNE, April 4. — (AP) — The first published photographs of the damage inflicted on Luebeck by the Royal Air Force last Saturday night show "without exaggeration that the effects were catastrophic," the Berlin correspondent of the Tribune De Geneve reported today.

"Some hundreds of properties were demolished like castles of cardboard and some streets were entirely blasted by explosions," the correspondent wrote.

The photographs confirmed earlier reports from Berlin that the raid was "the heaviest British air attack on German territory since the beginning of the war."

Wounded War Prisoners To Be Exchanged

LONDON, April 4. — (CP) — Britain and Italy started exchanging their sick and wounded prisoners of war today when ships carrying the men met at the western Turkish port of Smyrna.

Negotiations conducted through a third country—identified only as "a protecting power"—set in motion the machinery for the exchange, the foreign office said.

"In view of the nature of the operation, further details cannot be given at this stage but a full statement including the names of those repatriated will be issued when it is completed," the announcement declared.

A spokesman said the Italians to be repatriated "will be far more numerous" than British prisoners from "the inevitable fact that the British Empire holds far more prisoners than Italy."

The ratio of Italian to British prisoners is believed to be not less than five to one, it was said.

The exchange will be made from hospital ships and it has been suggested each side send one ship to Izmir to make the swap.

Dutch Governor Asserts Burma Is Danger Spot

MELBOURNE, April 4—(CP)—Voicing confidence in the growing strength of Australia's defences, bolstered by men and equipment from the United States, Lt.-Gov. Huberius J. Van Mook of the Netherlands East Indies declared today any attempt to invade this continent would be "very risky" for the Japanese.

Van Mook, who sought refuge here when the Japanese over-ran Java, said in an interview an all-out assault on Australia would involve vast transportation problems and extended lines of communication.

NEUTRALIZE AUSTRALIA

"I do not think the Japanese will attempt a full occupation of Australia," he said, expressing belief Burma was the "real danger spot" in the Pacific war theatre.

Van Mook said he thought it likely the Japanese would try merely to "neutralize Australia as a base" for potential offensive operations by the United Nations forces.

"Their progress southward has been slowed down lately. Perhaps they never were prepared to advance further in this direction. Moreover, reinforcements are arriving here more quickly."

OTHERS DIFFER

His views on the possibility of an invasion attempt were not shared in all quarters, despite a lull in Japanese activity. Some observers interpreted the lull as merely the prelude to a major assault, while others expressed belief the Japanese had over-reached themselves and been compelled to slow down.

There was general agreement, however, that continued heavy attacks on Japanese bases nearest Australia by United Nations' bombers had affected the enemy's ability to continue his earlier offensive policy.

Contour maps of the Prome area in Burma indicate there are far stronger defensive positions available to the British forces north of the town than any the Japanese have yet encountered in their northward surge up the Irrawaddy river valley.

Just how far British lines have been withdrawn from Prome is not indicated. However, there seems justification for the view that the town itself was of small value to the defence of the Irrawaddy oil fields more than 100 miles farther north.

Just southeast of Prome within less than 10 miles is a 500-foot hill upthrust from the level valley floor. It lies east of the river and west of the Prome-Tharrawaddy railroad New Delhi reports indicate it was

TRAINED IN SIBERIAN SNOWS

Russ Reserves Ready For Nazi Drive

By WILLIAM R. DOWNS

LONDON, April 4.—(BUP)—Russia indicated today that millions of tough reserves, trained and hardened all winter in the Siberian snows beyond the Urals, were ready for action against German efforts to start a spring offensive.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported that first large contingents of these reserves had passed their "tests" with excellent results. Presumably Tass meant they had scored successes against the Nazis.

The new armies come from every part of the Soviet, Tass said.

They include hardy peasants and rough-riding Cossacks, who have been hacking the Germans all winter, and all have received special training as snipers, trench mortar crews, anti-tank and machine gunners, the agency reported.

LOCAL SUCCESSES

Dispatches from Russia reported local successes yesterday, particularly in the Smolensk region and the Ukraine. Gen. Gregori Zhukoff was reported pushing ahead around Smolensk, despite enemy counter-attacks, and to have captured two more inhabited localities. Guerrilla were increasingly active in the Germans' rear, and hounding them unceasingly.

Official dispatches said a German infantry battalion, fresh from home, was routed the first time it went into action. More than 300 were killed and the rest threw down their rifles and fled.

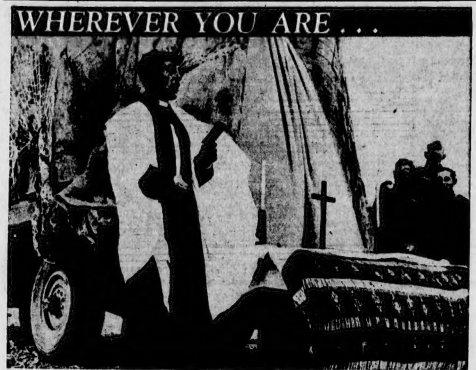

Units of the Soviet navy, including torpedo boats and motor launches, were reported to have sunk 12 German submarines thus far in the Baltic.

The Soviet communique last midnight said there was no important change in the battlefront as a whole, but that Russian forces had occupied several inhabited localities. It reported that 23 German planes were destroyed Thursday. The Russians lost six.

The first Russian communique today said that, while there still was no substantial change in the general line, an artillery unit on the Kalinin front had won a substantial local success, killing 1,630 Germans and destroying six tanks and 37 motor vehicles.

The Germans shelled a sector on the Bryansk front and two regiments, supported by 25 tanks, counter-attacked, the communique asserted. Eighteen of the tanks were destroyed by the Russians, and more than 1,000 Germans killed.

COAST OFFICERS IMPRESS MINISTER

Ralston Stresses Importance Of Civilian Morale

Spread Of Injurious Rumors Forms Vicious Attack On War Unity

VICTORIA, April 4.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston in an interview Friday night listed civilian morale as one of the most important phases of the war effort and suggested it could be preserved by preventing the circulation of unverified rumors.

Speaking toward the close of a Pacific coast defence tour which has kept him on the move since last Monday, the minister also urged the people of Canada to "work as hard in their particular sphere as they expect those in the services and defence activities to work."

He remarked that people appeared to regard time and comfort as the greatest sacrifices and recommended that they abandon an attitude of "let George do it," in matters such as civilian defence, reserve army work and air raids precaution.

"We need four things," he said after a busy day which carried him through fortifications in the immediate Victoria area. "They are men, money, munitions and morale. The latter is just as important as the others.

"We can avoid injury to morale by preventing the circulation of unfounded, unverified rumors which are as injurious to the war effort as failure to support it in the other three particulars.

"We can improve the morale of friends and neighbors by not letting rumors become rampant and go unchecked. It is the duty of the solid, sound citizen to arrest their progress."

The minister's tour of defences guarding the sea approaches to Victoria and Vancouver was made while most of the civilian world observed the Good Friday holiday and kept up the pace which began Monday when he flew north to Prince Rupert, B.C., and then came down the coast in gradual stages, inspecting defence installations enroute.

3 U.S. Ships Bombed, Sunk By Japanese

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—The aircraft tender Langley, destroyer Peary and naval tanker Pecos have been bombed and sunk by the Japanese in the southwest Pacific, the United States Navy announced yesterday. Loss of life was estimated unofficially at more than 700 officers and men.

The loss of these three ships raised the navy's total losses of all types of vessels from all causes to 25 ships so far in the war.

The Pecos was sunk under heavy air bombardment south of Java while en route to port with several survivors of the Langley which previously had been bombed and sunk with a loss of only 14 persons.

The old First Great War type destroyer Peary was bombed in port at Darwin about Feb. 19. Her crew fought her to the last, then members swam ashore, some through wreckage and flaming oil. Loss of life was light.

THE MIDDLE EAST NEXT WAR THEATER?

Once again the melting snows, the movement of men and material, and the flitting about of titled diplomats and generals have brought a deluge of rumor and counter-rumor to the bridge between Occident and Orient—the fabled, troubled Middle East.

Sifted for the facts they contain, a foreboding picture may be sketched. Indeed, observers on the scene have gone so far as to set a date for an expected attack. Adolf Hitler, they say, may be expected to start for Baghdad no later than the third week in April.

The assault, if it is attempted, might well follow the pincer strategy that seemed to be developing a year ago. This would mean a drive by the African army toward Suez and an attack by sea and air on Syria, perhaps bypassing Turkey but possibly smashing through.

Motivating the main drive would be Germany's long-nourished desire for a rendezvous in India with Axis partner Japan, who now possesses the oil, rubber and tin that a war machine dearly needs. Possible "by-products," nevertheless, would constitute a goal in themselves.

If Suez were knocked out, the British Empire would be cut squarely in half. If Iran and Iraq were occupied, Germany not only could threaten Russia from the rear, but would stand squarely across the supply line reaching the Soviet via the Persian Gulf and Trans-Iranian railway. While doing so she could gain a firm grip on potential oil reserves of some 20,000,000,000 barrels at a time when new fuel sources would begin to be needed—and soon.

* * * *

Signs that Hitler may be preparing to move toward culmination of his Berlin-to-Baghdad dream are not difficult to perceive. Great numbers of trained parachutists, pilots and trained ground crews have been reported massed on Bulgarian and Balkan shores. At least 100 Junkers troop-carrying planes were on Crete a fortnight ago. Turkish reports indicated, and barges, torpedo boats and transports concentrated not only in Italian, Grecian and Dodecanese waters but along Bulgaria's Black Sea coastline.

General Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's assignment in the Balkans and General Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch's arrival in Greece would seem to presage grave developments. Likewise, heavy attacks on Malta could be interpreted as one sign that unusual German efforts were being made to send supplies to North Africa where Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, back from Berlin, is being assisted, significantly, by the Nazi air force chieftain, General Field Marshal Albert Kesselring.

With Bulgaria firmly under the Axis thumb and reportedly willing to contribute some 200,000 fighting men, the greatest snag the Nazis have yet to smooth out appears to be neutral Turkey. She long has been an uncertain quantity, veering first toward one side and then toward the other. Having been subjected to a barrage of recent visits from Axis diplomats, she doubtless has had tempting offers in the line of Mid-Eastern concessions for transit rights or even military non-interference. So far no sign of co-operation has been forthcoming.

On the other side, the Allies have done everything to expedite needed military material to Turkey, and sizeable aid, including American-built Tomahawk fighter planes, has arrived. Her formidable Chataldja line, on the European side of the Dardanelles has been reinforced, and she has mustered an army of some 750,000 men, with ample reserves, to stand behind it.

The Allies, nevertheless, have taken few chances on Turkey's remaining firm. R.A.F. forces in considerable strength have been deployed through the entire Mid-East, the British Ninth Army stationed in Syria and Palestine, and the Tenth Army in Iraq and Iran. The Mediterranean fleet, based on Alexandria and Haifa, still keeps that body of water essentially a British lake and the Eighth Army, heavily reinforced, stands guard against Gen. Rommel's corps in Libya. Protecting vital Suez at close range is a co-ordinated body drawn from the three fighting services.

The supply of these forces has been largely around the Cape of Good Hope, an 11,000-mile journey (London to Suez) which employed 300 ships continuously last year. The establishment of wholesale plane ferrying operations across Africa has aided tremendously, and a trucking route is being developed from Free French ports on the Atlantic to the Mid-East via Khartoum.

Control of the Mediterranean, despite the preparations on land, still remains the key to the Middle East's successful defense. To this end, retention of the British base at Malta is vital, for with it gone, the Axis could pour supplies uninterruptedly across to Libya. German airmen have made the island the war's most frequently bombed objective yet have failed, Lord Halifax has reported, to prevent half their convoys from being sunk.

One other British bastion stands in the way of Nazi success—the base at Cyprus. Three hundred miles from Axis-held Rhodes, its capture would depend largely on ascendancy in the air. In this instance Britain would have to send planes no farther than the attackers, an equality she did not have in the battle of Crete.

American personnel at the vital Mid-Eastern crossroads is increasing steadily, the military mission under Major-General Russell Maxwell now occupying an entire building in Cairo with branches in Palestine and Iran. Its task is principally that of directing United States supply and servicing of American-made war materials but its scope is growing almost daily.

Newest activity is in Eritrea where engineers and technicians are expanding Italian installations into a massive supply base for land, sea and air operations. In Iran, the mission's task is one of improving transportation facilities so that materials for Russia may be moved northward from Persian Gulf ports in the greatest possible quantity and with the least possible delay. To that end, the Trans-Iranian railroad's capacity was reported trebled early this month.—Joseph Morion.

Rubber Patents Offered Canada By Standard Oil

By J. F. SANDERSON

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(CP)—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, owner of some of the basic patents in the manufacture of synthetic rubber, has made an offer to the Canadian government concerning their use in wartime, it was stated here today by Frank A. Howard, Standard vice-president.

Caught in the meshes of the United States anti-trust laws, Standard a few days ago agreed to a consent decree in the American courts by which its patents on synthetic rubber, airplane gasoline and other wartime necessities were freed for the duration of the war.

Howard said he had conferences here this week with Col. Arthur L. Bishop, Toronto industrialist who is president of the new government-owned company known as Polymer Corporation, Limited, which is in charge of Canada's synthetic rubber program, and J. B. Nicholson, deputy controller of supplies in the Canadian munitions and supply department. He said, "they seemed to be quite satisfied with our offer".

Japanese capture of this height which forced the British withdrawal from Prome.

BRITISH ADVANTAGE

Immediately northwest of the town, however, a 900-foot jungle-clad peak juts up. If that still is in British hands, Prome can be but a temporary outlet, untenable by either side, and with the advantage of higher ground with the British side.

The main point in the valley of the Irrawaddy lies just north of Prome. A sharp buttress spur of the Arakan Yoma mountains to the west, comes down to within a mile of the bank of the Irrawaddy at that point. It rises to nearly 1,400 feet midway between the river and the main Arakan ridge which shows 5,000-foot level passes in that sector but no roads.

That spur forms a powerful barrier to a Japanese advance up the west side of the valley beyond Prome. It seems unquestionable that it figures importantly in British defence strategy. Heavy jungle growths cover it to offer effective shelter to troops from air attack.

RUPTURE ROAD CONTACT

Loss of Toungoo, the eastern anchor of the Anglo-Chinese defence front, and the evacuation of Prome appear to have ruptured road contact between the two wings of the front. It may compel deeper Chinese withdrawals and expose the east flank of the British Prome waistline front, compelling a further retirement.

As far as the present lines can be mapped from the meagre information available, however, there seems good reason to expect an increasingly stubborn allied retreat step by step, bolstered by strong natural defensive positions and calculated to slow the Japanese advance until the wet monsoon comes to halt major action.

India Proposal Unsatisfactory Says Moslem capital for a day to give the committee the benefit of his advice.

Sir Staffords called at noon upon Louis Johnson, personal representative of President Roosevelt in India.

Mohammed Ali Jinnah, leader of the Moslem minority, declared in Allahabad that the Moslems would never accept any proposals that would prevent their achievement of a separate state.

Addressing the Moslem League he referred to the current plan as "a bare skeleton of proposals which would obviously require a lot of filling in and adjustire before it can be made acceptable."

"It is obviously one of those cases," he said, "where details are and will become more vital than a bare statement of certain principles."

VEILED RECOGNITION

Jinnah said "the principle of Pakistan" — under which Moslems would have the right of self-governing states—"finds only veiled recognition in the document."

"Until we know how the right of Moslems to keep out or accede thereto is defined to our satisfaction we do not wish to see the theory of Palestine repeated as after the last war," the leader said.

"Moslem India will not be satisfied until the right of national self-determination is unequivocally recognized and implemented.

"We cannot barter away the future for the present, while fully realizing the danger of foreign aggression and notwithstanding all our anxiety to defend India and help in the prosecution of the war."

REPORT DENIED

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, who as a past president of the Congress party is one of the senior Indian Nationalist leaders, denied a report widely circulated yesterday that he had received a message from Chiang Kai-Shek, China's commander-in-chief, urging acceptance of the plan in general.

He received a letter a few days ago from Madame Chiang, he said, but this was a personal note dealing, among other things, with the prospective marriage of his daughter, Indira.

Not until the department took steps to blacklist the Brazilian subsidiary of the company last October, a witness said, did the company agree to stop selling petroleum to "Lati", a German-sponsored Italian-operated airline—Italian from Rome, to South America, and the German-controlled Condor line, operating in Brazil.

(It was made plain later that the Brazilian subsidiary never actually was placed on the blacklist, officials stating that since the October incident Standard Oil had co-operated 100 per cent with the state department.)

PROMINENT WITNESSES

The testimony was given to the senate defence investigating committee by A. A. Berle, assistant secretary of state, and William La Varre, chief of the American republics' office for the department of commerce.

Over Lati and through the British blockade, La Varre told the committee, there travelled between 1939 and 1941 a steady stream of Axis propaganda and propagandists, bound for South American countries and the United States, as well as valuable war materials for Germany on the line's eastward trips.

La Varre supplied the committee with a list showing what he termed "the most notorious record of enemies that ever travelled on any line."

Immediately after the United States entered the war, Berle said, Condor was forced to suspend operations for lack of fuel and the Brazilian government took over Lati.

La Varre testified that gasoline reaching the airlines' South American bases in "tremendous quantities," taken there by tankers flying the German flag and manned by German crews but owned by Standard Oil.

"The commerce department couldn't do anything about it," he said. "We just had to sit by and watch it go on."

2 Policemen Are Killed In Attempt Halt I.R.A. Parade

BELFAST, April 4.—(AP)—Two policemen were wounded today when they attempted to break up an Irish Republican army parade at Dufcannon, Tyrone county.

Searching in the darkness for members of the parading group, they defied an official order prohibiting the demonstration, police surprised four men hiding in a backyard. The two forces fought a running battle with tommy guns and revolvers. The I.R.A. band escaped.

Nazi Planes Fail In Bombing Dive On Hospital Ship

LONDON, April 4.—(CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation yesterday reported an unsuccessful attack by 11 Nazi dive bombers against a clearly-marked British hospital ship in the Mediterranean.

"A message from Cairo says that a British hospital ship which was leaving Tobruk was attacked by 11 Junkers dive bombers," the B.B.C. said. "The ship was taking wounded to base hospital and it was clearly marked with large red crosses.

"Although 36 bombs fell around the ship, no damage was done."

Nazi Radio Claims Batteries Fire On Convoy In Channel

LONDON, April 4.—(CP)—The German radio at Hilversum, the Netherlands, was heard broadcasting a report today that long-range batteries on the occupied coast opened fire on a British convoy in the English Channel last night. Several ships were seen to have been hit, the radio claimed.

Corregidor Guns Down Two Japs

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—The United States war department reported today that the anti-aircraft gunners of the Philippines' Corregidor fortress shot down two more heavy Japanese bombers, increasing their bag to 17 destroyed in less than two weeks.

Two other enemy raiders probably were damaged, a communique said.

A new type of bomb was dropped by the foe over Corregidor yesterday afternoon, the department said, explaining they burst in the air with huge flames. No damage resulted from the attacks.

MAYO SCIENTIST ISOLATES GERM

Promising New Infantile Paralysis Treatment Found

Presence Of Disease May Now Be Detected Before It Develops

BOSTON, April 4.—(CP)—A new and revolutionary concept concerning the cause of infantile paralysis which, if accepted, will entirely revise future treatment of one of man-kind's most elusive killers was reported Friday by Dr. E. C. Rosenow, Mayo Foundation bacteriologist.

Rosenow said that after 25 years he had at last obtained scientific proof of "a hunch" that the disease is caused by a minute form of visible streptococcus germs and not by an invisible "virus," as science has long believed.

The way now is clear, he said, to apply an anti-serum he has perfected not only for treatment of the diseases in advanced stages but for "possible skin tests" to detect the disease before it can develop.

Discussing two reports he made to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, the Minnesota scientist declared:

"Up to now, the treatment of infantile paralysis has been difficult because investigators were attempting to attack a 'virus'—an organism that eludes even the microscope—but the present study indicates the attack now may be turned on a visible germ which can itself be grown experimentally and employed in measures of treatment."

He said he had been able to produce typical symptoms of infantile in monkeys by injecting a material derived directly from streptococcus germs, and said the powerful electron microscope had revealed in the injection material organisms that he definitely identified as minute forms of the streptococcus.

Hepburn Rated Serious Drag On War Drive

TORONTO, April 4—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation leader in the house of commons, in a speech here Friday night urging an all-out war effort, called Premier Hepburn a "dangerous man," and said it was "about time" the people of Ontario had an opportunity of repudiating him.

"There is no man in the public life of Canada who is as great a danger to the Dominion and to our war effort and to the people of Canada," Coldwell said. He spoke at an Ontario C.C.F. banquet and introduced F. B. Jolliffe, who was chosen provincial party leader earlier in the day.

BUZZING AROUND

Coldwell said that last August the Ontario premier was "tripping the Great Lakes in a yacht owned by an American publisher who has been the most bitter anti-British publisher in the United States." In September, the premier was in New York "Giving aid and comfort to the isolationists by telling the people of the United States that their efforts in support of Russia would be lost because Russia was already defeated."

In December, Coldwell added, "he was bellitling the naval strength of our great American ally." People in the United States thought his words represented the ideas of the people of Canada and Ontario, the C.C.F. leader said, and "it was about time the people of Ontario had an opportunity of repudiating this dangerous man."

WRECKING UNITY

"I know he gives lip service to the Allied cause but we can't win this war without unity. No man has sown the seed of disunity in Canada to greater extent than the Premier of Ontario.

"He represents in his person some of the most reactionary elements of this province, the mining corporations of the north, who have ground down labor to the limit, who have defeated temporarily the brave men of Kirkland Lake."

Coldwell described the C.C.F as the only Canadian movement which stood for a really all-out war effort. It can't be an all out war effort without the country mobilized and that involves mobilization of industry, wealth and manpower.

HEPBURN DENIES CHARGES BY C.C.F.

TORONTO, April 4—(CP)—Premier Hepburn said today that charges made against him at the Ontario Co-operative Commonwealth Federation convention here yesterday were a "tirade of unwarranted abuse without any basis in fact."

Mr. Hepburn was charged by the C.C.F. with using his office against labor and at the convention dinner, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader in the House of Commons, said Mr. Hepburn was a "danger" to the Dominion and the war effort, adding that last August the premier was "tripping the Great Lakes in a yacht owned by an American publisher who has been the most bitter anti-British publisher in the United States."

"I am not going to dignify the charges by replying to each separately, but I want to point out, in fairness to others as well as to myself, that the yacht on which I travelled last August was not owned by an anti-British publisher in the United States, as Mr. Coldwell charges. It was owned by Howard McNamara of Toronto. With me on this trip, which was partly for business, were Arthur Slaght, K.C., Chester Walters, my deputy, and Dr. W. H. Avery."

Early Meeting National C.C.F. Party Is Asked

By HAROLD FAIR

TORONTO, April 4—(CP)—Ontario's Co-operative Commonwealth Federation party today requested its national council "to call an emergency national convention at the earliest possible moment in order to warn the Canadian people of the dangers which face them and to mobilize them for effective action before it is too late."

The party's tenth annual convention acted by approving a resolution sponsored by C. H. Millard of Toronto, who called Canada's war effort "a scandal because it is conducted solely on a price and profit basis."

CONDITION "CRITICAL"

The resolution declared the condition of the United Nations is more critical now than at any time since the outbreak of the war.

It added, "The government's conduct of the war, its slavish allegiance to big business and special privilege, its throttling of labor and callous disregard of labor power is jeopardizing victory in the war and endangering the peace afterwards."

This request to the National Council came after the convention elaborated on the party's labor policy by adopting a "wartime minimum wage-hour program for industries and demanded that wealth and industry be conscripted "At the same time and on the same basis as manpower."

"The war effort is a scandal in this country," said Millard, executive director of the Steel Workers' organization committee. "It is a scandal and next to treason because it is conducted solely on a price and profit basis."

Russia's stand against the Nazis was made possible, he added, because the Soviet has the means of production under the people's control.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

Collective bargaining, incorporated in the platform yesterday, was emphasized again as the convention passed a resolution by Windsor Central C.C.F., sponsored by Roscoe Rodd of Windsor, who said it needed no explanation, the resolution urged that the people of Canada "be constantly reminded of the attempt of certain reactionary Mining Corporations in Kirkland Lake to resist, by means of starving their employees into submission. The legitimate demands of miners for full collective bargaining rights."

The wartime wage-hour program provides: a $25 weekly minimum wage for all adult workers; a 48-hour, six-day week, except where under collective agreements a shorter week is established; time and a half for overtime; one day's rest in seven; cost of living bonus for all workers, in a uniform basis.

Another approved resolution urged repeal of orders in council restricting the right to strike, authorizing use of the army to break strikes and placing a ceiling on wages without an adequate floor.

The way was paved for affiliation of trades unions and other groups by a resolution empowering the C.C.F. provincial council to arrange terms of affiliation after consultation with the group concerned.

ATTACK LEGISLATION

A resolution demanding conscription of wealth and industry asserted "the way in which conscription of labor has been imposed by the federal government in its selective service legislation is yet another example of the reactionary big business character of our present government."

"The main practical result of the selective service measure of the government will be to impose the most vicious form of military conscription through economic pressure and there seems reason to suspect that this may have been the main purpose of the measure," the resolution said. "The policy of the government becomes clearer with its every act. It is a policy of conscription of manpower and unchecked profits for big business."

Exodus From Aluminum Co. Plant Halted

CHICOUTIMI, Que., April 4—(CP)—A telegram from Labor Minister Mitchell explaining the conditions under which farm laborers will be exempt from military service has been posted in the Aluminum Company of Canada at nearby Arvida, it was learned here today.

The telegram, addressed to President R. E. Powell of the aluminum Company, said misunderstanding of selective service regulations apparently had caused unnecessary displacement of employees of the plant and threatened to lower essential production of aluminum.

The telegram said that although farm laborers had been exempted from compulsory military service in order to maintain production, the exemption applied only if agriculture was the main occupation of the person concerned on March 23. The exemption, the wire added, did not apply to industrial workers who left their industrial employment to enter agriculture after March 23.

Reports from Arvida said that so many employees of the big plant had left to return to farms in the district during the last days of March that possibility was seen that the exodus would affect production of the vital metal. It was said the movement away from the plant was halted after the telegram had been posted, and that some of the men who had left later returned to their jobs.

Spring Floods In Winnipeg Region

WINNIPEG, April 4.—(CP)—Rising waters of the Seine river which runs through suburban St. Vital have forced some 50 families from their homes and it was estimated damage would run to many thousands of dollars. Many of the homes in the area, about six miles south of Winnipeg, have from three to four feet of water on the main floor.

Along St. Annes road, main traffic artery through St. Vital, storekeepers placed "business as usual" signs on their premises and waded through their stores with rubber boots on waiting for customers.

Even Children To Be Given Role In U.S. Arms Output

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C., April 4.—(AP)—When the United States reaches its all-out war effort, says Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service Act, men and women over 45—even children—will go into production lines to replace younger men capable of bearing arms.

Hershey, speaking here last night, estimated that 15,000,000 workers would be engaged in war industries by the end of 1942, compared with 5,000,000 who were engaged Jan. 1. He said his definition of war industries did not include agriculture or supporting industries.

Ontario C.C.F. Party Headed By E. B. Jolliffe

TORONTO, April 4—(CP)—A 33-year-old Toronto lawyer, Edward B. Jolliffe, Friday became first leader of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation's Ontario section and assumed the role of party political head while internal administrative work of the C.C.F. will be directed, as before, by the president.

The organization's 10th annual convention chose Jolliffe over Murray Cottrill of Toronto, but the vote figure was not announced.

Jolliffe's election featured a day in which the C.C.F. called for Ontario's political situation to the "radically changed," approved an eight-point program to put agriculture "On a sound basis," and enunciated its labor policy in a series of resolutions calling for collective bargaining and outlawing of company unions.

"We want to see the winning of social security by all our people," the tall, slender Jolliffe said in his acceptance speech. "The present government and their leader, Mr. Hepburn, are not going to do this for the people. We believe the C.C.F. has the policy and the C.C.F. is the only hope in this province."

Jolliffe, already a vice-president of the C.C.F., was born in Chungking, China, of missionary parents and later went to Oxford university as a Rhodes scholar from the University of Toronto. He has been practising in Toronto since 1936 and at one time was on the staff of The Canadian Press.

Russian Farmers Behind Nazi Lines Supply Red Forces

MOSCOW, April 4—(AP)—Delivery to the Red army of 250 tons of foodstuffs assembled by collective farmers working in German-occupied territory was announced here today among dramatic guerrilla contributions to the Soviet war effort.

Organized patriots, working behind and within the invasion lines, have killed 800 Germans and hampered road and railway communications in two sectors, Russian authorities said.

Torpedoes Fail To Bar Delivery Memorial Window

ALBANY, N.Y., April 4.—(AP)—Two torpedoes failed to bar blue glass from Britain from reaching St. Paul's Episcopal church for a memorial window. The first ship carrying the glass was torpedoed in the Atlantic, but was beached and the cargo was saved. The glass was reloaded on a second vessel, which was torpedoed. The process was repeated with a third, and the glass delivered—the packing case still wet and labelled "Great Britain delivers the goods."

Canadians Score Hit On Enemy Airplane

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, April 4.—(CP)—In the first Canadian action of the spring, gunners of a Canadian light ack-ack regiment commanded by a Calgary Lieutenant Colonel scored a direct hit on a raiding enemy plane recently, it was disclosed today.

Smoke belched from the plane as it wobbled beyond the range of the Canucks, who were certain it could not reach the European coast. It is thought it probably dropped into the sea.

Fund Reaches Million Mark On Anniversary

MONTREAL, April 4.—(CP)—The Queen's Canadian Fund for air raid victims reached its first million dollars today on the eve of its first birthday. The national total was given as $1,001,244.

The fund, supported by a number of Canadian newspapers, is administered on privately subscribed money and all donations are forwarded intact to Britain to be used mainly for the rehabilitation of air raid victims.

The drive is under the patronage of Queen Elizabeth and transmits its collections to the London Lord Mayor's national air raid distress fund for distribution.

John G. McConnell, chairman of the fund, today expressed pleasure at the birthday total and said it was a tribute to the work of Canadian individuals and organizations who had co-operated so closely.

It is estimated more than 200,000 individuals have made contributions. Every province has taken part in the drive for funds and Nova Scotia—with a total of $210,000—leads on a per capita basis.

Donations have also come from the United States. Mrs. Kelly Evans of Hot Springs, Va., the biggest donor, presented her London bank balance amounting to $57,000 in Canadian currency.

R.A.F. At Narvik

LONDON, April 4—(CP)—Reuters relayed a Stockholm report Friday, that 17 British planes, possibly based on an aircraft carrier, flew over Narvik, Nazi-occupied port in northern Norway, Thursday. There was no word of bombs having been dropped.

Keep Ration Book On You Says Ottawa

OTTAWA, April 4—(CP)—Reports that gasoline ration books have been stolen from parked cars today led the department of munitions and supply to warn motorists to keep the books on their persons.

A departmental statement quoted oil controller G. R. Cottrelle as saying that if service station operators observe the law stolen books cannot be used.

"Very severe penalties will be invoked if it is discovered that a stolen coupon has been accepted by a service station for the purchase of gasoline," Mr. Cottrelle said.

The controller also warned against mutilation of ration books.

"Certain service stations have been planning to stamp their name on the coupon books of their customers," Mr. Cottrelle said. "If this is done, the books will no longer be valid."

In an accompanying statement the munitions and supply department said service station operators will not be permitted to sell gasoline to themselves or to their own employees except on surrender of ration coupons.

"The service station operators and attendants will have no advantage over any other member of the public," said Mr. Cottrelle.

The Easter Message

Easter is said to have derived its name from that of the Anglo-Saxon Goddess of Spring. If so, the word is singularly fitting, for the idea of resurrection from the dead easily associates itself with the recovery of nature from the dormant condition of winter. The visible change in the world about us is the appropriate symbol of the return of life after death. Alike to the believer and to the observer of things material, this is the season of hope, of looking forward with anticipation of change, of the fulfilment of promise and the realization of ideals.

Hope implies expectation that what is longed for will be attained, and for this the world was never so hungry as now. To the Christian, Easter brings the assurance of life beyond the grave. To every one it marks the reawakening of the forces of nature from torpor. To many millions it must now also prefigure the restoration of national life, the recovery of lost liberties, the resumption of ways of living which have been cruelly interrupted. To all men everywhere who long for righteousness, mercy and peace, it offers inspiration and encouragement.

Life will triumph over death, light over darkness, truth over error, eternal purpose over brutal force; this is the message of Easter to our distraught world.

Pensions For All

The Saskatchewan legislature unanimously adopted a resolution favoring an increase in old age pensions. During the debate the minister in charge of this service suggested that the system should be revised and expanded into a contributory scheme providing retirement allowances for every person on reaching retirement age.

This is the direction in which we are moving, surely if slowly. The costs of the present system are running into larger and larger figures, for which no specific provision has been made by ear-marking certain revenues or by collecting special taxes. It is a question of time only until the cost to the federal and provincial treasuries will compel the adoption of methods for raising the pension money. When that time comes, and it may come soon, the question of changing the scheme into a universal system, supported by universal contributions, will be directly up for consideration.

Hitherto the taxpayers have been treating their civil servants better than themselves. They contribute to retirement pensions for public employees, and rightly so; but do not pile up any reserves from which to draw pensions for themselves. That anomaly is due to be corrected, and the time is correct it will be when the cost of the present system compels attention to the question of raising revenue.

Long and tragic experience has shown that most Canadians fail to voluntarily lay aside enough during their earning years to take care of them when their services are no longer in demand. The alternative is for each to hand over to the Government a share of his earnings and thus create a fund from which he can, without any suggestion of accepting charity, draw a pension when his earning years have passed.

A "Strategic" Change

Australia's minister for air defence would not have openly declared, without having the best of reasons for confidence, that the Allied air forces in that Dominion have definitely gained a superiority over New Britain and New Guinea.

No one in authority at Canberra has taken a very optimistic view of the position of Australia in face of the threatened invasion; rather the contrary. Hitherto the matters have been in stressing the strength of the enemy and the need of reinforcements, particularly air reinforcements. When Mr. Drakeford says now that the Japanese air power has been definitely beaten on the approaches to the Dominion he implies that reinforcements have arrived and are in sight which give this victory something more than temporary "tactical significance".

The plain inference is that if men and munitions continue to arrive as expected the enemy will not be able to regain superiority in the air. Which, remembering that the Japanese have nowhere attempted a major attack without a "ceiling" of planes in overwhelming numbers, means that the invasion forces have been stopped and the menace to Australia is far less imminent.

In New Guinea and New Britain the Japanese hold bases from which their bombers can continue to raid towns along the northern coast of the island continents. But because of the distances, these have to operate without fighter protection and their attacks are ineffective. Plane-carriers will hardly venture into Torres Strait, since ten per cent of Japan's cruiser strength has been shattered in the adjacent waters.

Mr. Drakeford has good reason therefore to say the outcome of the air fighting on the distant approaches to Australia has made a "strategical difference" to the whole situation in the South Pacific. If the enemy cannot invade and capture Australia, his incursion into the Indian Ocean must be a highly venturesome enterprise.

—V—

London has given notice that the Bay of Biscay has been made dangerous to navigation, by the laying of mine fields and the tightening of maritime patrol. The reasons are obvious. French ports on that coast have been used as bases for enemy U-boats. And as receiving ports for Nazi supplies shipped from Spain, Portugal, and possibly the west coast of Africa. A protest from Franco would not be unexpected.

—V—

While R.A.F. bombers were blowing the submarine base at St. Nazaire to pieces, British and Russian warships off the north coast of Norway sank three enemy U-boats and a destroyer. Both the raid and the battle were incidents in the fight to keep supplies moving along the sea lanes, and both resulted in reverses for the enemy. If, as expected, Berlin is to intensify its war upon commerce with the opening of spring, these incidents suggest what Mr. Churchill meant when he said the war upon the pirates is also to be speeded up.

—V—

The death of Major Arthur P. Chattell, D.S.O., will occasion very keen regret to a wide circle of friends in the city, in and outside military circles. Major Chattell had a distinguished record of service in the former great war, and was a moving spirit in the organization of the Veterans' Volunteer Reserve at the outbreak of the present struggle, being in command of the South Edmonton battalion of that force. He was deeply interested in air raid precautions, and has been in charge of the formation of the Air Warden Corps.

When the C. and E. branch was opened last fall, it became a standing joke with the trainmen on the main line to enquire when the branch train was to be put on runners. While delays have occurred on account of snow on the main line, and very frequently on the Prince Albert branch, the C. and E. train has never been delayed a minute all winter by snow, cold weather or any other cause, except waiting at Calgary for the main line train to make connection. This is proof that the favorable winter claimed for the district over other eastern and southern parts of the Territories is a fixed and pleasing fact.

New York: Approximately 600,000 miners quit work tonight.

Miners in the Edmonton district are not thus far affected by the strike that has tied up coal production in the United States and the southern part of Canada.

London: Signing of the agreement between the representatives of northern and southern Ireland, outlining measures for the pacification of the country, came with unexpected suddenness.

1932 — 10 Years Ago

In the legislature Premier Brownlee said a moratorium would have been of no benefit to Alberta farmers at any time, and would be of no benefit to them now.

Dublin: The Free State Government proposes to use $24,000,000 secured by refusing to pay Irish land annuities, as a fund with which to carry on work projects to relieve unemployment.

Tokyo: Japan is sending a new military expedition to Manchukuo, to steady the shaky throne of Pu-Yi.

The legislature was informed that negotiations have failed which aimed to bring about a voluntary agreement with oil companies to conserve Turner Valley gas.

Some Comparative Figures

Ottawa: The feeling that Western Canada has not found full partnership in the national war effort, that the prairies have endured economic inferiority, war or no war, runs strongly among members of Parliament from the west of the Great Lakes. There are two main threads to this argument, as it appeared in the wheat debate.

Mr. Tucker, the Rosthern Liberal, had apparently been doing some homework among government reports and statistical surveys, and he told the House there were fewer cars and telephones on Saskatchewan farms, relatively, than Ontario. There were fewer radios, less electricity, less piped water in farmers' kitchens. The western farming communities had greater difficulty in maintaining educational, medical and other services. "I put it to the members of the House point blank," he said, "would you say you are going to have one first-class type of citizen in Canada and then another, a second-class type, who cannot afford the same education, who cannot afford the same medical services?"

The statistics, of course, are unanswerable. Per capita income in Saskatchewan was $261 in 1940, in Ontario it was $505. The index of receipts from sales of farm products in 1941 was 134.6 in Quebec, 199.3 in Ontario, 86.1 in Manitoba, and 55.99 in Saskatchewan.—B.T.R., in Winnipeg Free Press.

Allied Strategy Is To Keep Axis Forces Diffused

Timing and Not Equipment Is Vital Factor in War

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Back seat driving in a war is not the function of a layman. Nevertheless, grand strategy can be understood by everyone with imagination, a grasp of geography and some knowledge of the essential nature of the war.

It is not even true that war, as an art, has changed because its instruments have changed. The art of war is a school of war goes back to Clausewitz — a century and a half back, in an age when there were few tanks and planes. Hitler, again in his last speech, mentioned his German master.

Dorothy Thompson

But one can go still further back—twenty-five centuries, to the eminent Chinese General Sun Tzu, who, in an eight-thousand-word essay called "The Art of War," laid down first principles that would hardly be denied in any progressive war college today.

Sun Tzu knew, for instance, that it was better to surround an army than destroy it; that deception—keeping the enemy guessing—is a first principle; that psychological warfare must not be neglected; that the concentration of the enemy must at all costs be prevented, and that fifth columns could be used to undermine the enemy's fighting strength.

Time Is Now

Anybody can understand Sun Tzu, and anybody can understand Mr. Maisky, the Soviet Ambassador, who had a few measured words to say in London on Wednesday last. Mr. Maisky thinks that 1942 and not 1943 is the year. He thinks it is Russia's time is now, and the strategy is not to let the enemy concentrate but to keep him all we have in the place he least expects it, while he is tied up in the place where he is compelled to be.

Mr. Maisky points out that we know the situation now, the initiative now is ours, and that may not be true a year from now. And, in his mind, that fact is more important than whether we will have more tanks and planes in 1943.

Now, what is the psychological strategy of the enemy? Japan is trying to persuade us that she can strike in four points: Australia, India, the Philippines and Siberia. Germany is trying to persuade us that she may strike at the British Isles, in Northern Africa, and through Turkey and Syria at the Near East. And both are trying to create the impression: It's against your interests to help the Russians; they are Bolshevists.

The net effect of all this is that they hope we will either concentrate our efforts on defending our own shores and the British Isles, or diffuse them in an attempt to defend the whole globe, with the Axis picking the places.

Prediction

Now, again, on this subject, someone who has never been widely enough read, except by the German geo-politicians, has something to say. That is Sir Halford Mackinder, who in a remarkable little book, published in 1919, predicted the whole strategy of this war to a "t".

Sir Halford, like the German geo-politician Haushofer, who unfortunately learned a lot from the scolarly British geographer, foresaw the decline of sea-power as a striking force, the rise of air-power in its place, and the relative advantage for air-power of central land positions on vast land areas.

Also, like the German geo-politicians, he thought in global terms and recognized that Europe, Asia and Africa were not three "continents" but the continent, all contiguous by land, and containing two-thirds of the earth's surface, and seven-eighths of humanity.

In Sir Halford's global view—and Haushofer's—all the rest of the world including the Americas was merely so many islands off the coasts of the great continent.

He argued that if anyone could drive all other armies off the great continent, the "islanders" would have a hard time climbing on it and defeating them. And he put the center of this continent, the strategic hub of the world, in Russia—around the Black Sea, at the junction between Europe, Asia and Africa.

Sir Halford was not thinking about Bolshevism. He was thinking about geography and the strategy of war.

Must Have Oil

Today he is more right than he was then. For technical matters also make this area the hub of the world. In this area are the oil supplies for the Germans, the Russians and partly for the British. It is not only that the Germans need oil, whether from Iran or Baku. If the Russians lose Baku, their mechanized armies stand still and Russia can only fight on like the Yugoslavs.

So Hitler must try to get Baku this spring and summer. All other things are less important. Other sources of oil are less important. For he cannot win this war if he has a huge mechanized Russian army fighting him on his flanks —even if he gets oil from other Near Eastern sources. All the guess work where the Axis will strike is playing Hitler's game, for we know where he must strike, unless he has taken leave of his General Staff's wits. So we must prepare against it.

Helping Russia is one way. But we must also keep Hitler from concentrating his forces. He knows he must concentrate all his power for the smash against Russia and the Caucasus. And that is precisely what we should not let him do. If he cannot concentrate, Mr. Maisky is right: we shall win the war this year. It won't necessarily be over, but it will be won. And it will be won all over the world—in Asia and in the Pacific.

There are times when fewer tanks and fewer planes can accomplish what treble their number can't do in another moment.

Axis Declares War On Church

Nazism Is the Declared Enemy of Christian Religion

By HAROLD L. WEIR

An announcement that will have a profound effect upon the Roman Catholic people of France and Italy has just been issued in Berlin.

It is, in effect, a blunt declaration of war against the Christian Faith, an enunciation of Axis policy which includes the complete destruction of every vestige of both Catholicism and Protestantism in every part of the world — including Canada.

Harold L. Weir

This unmasked picture of the Nazi idea of Christianity is given in a circular memorandum signed by Reichsleiter Walther Richard Borman, successor to Rudolf Hess as Hitler's deputy leader of the Nazi party and is published in full in a recent issue of a leading Swiss newspaper.

The thing, therefore, represents an authoritative and official Nazi view.

There is no possible doubt that it is being given full and complete distribution in Germany as a formal utterance of the Nazi party and the German government.

Insurmountable Wall

The thesis of this official document plainly builds an insurmountable wall between Nazism and all persons who adhere to the Christian Faith.

National Socialism (the title of the Nazi party) and Christianity are irreconcilable concepts, Bormann's declaration states candidly.

Christianity built up its age-long influence on the ignorance of the people, runs Bormann's argument, while National Socialism today builds on a "scientific foundation".

Europe's "outmoded" religions take most of their dogmas from the Talmud, Bormann claims. Nobody would know Christianity if it had not been hammered into the receptive minds of children by priests, says Bormann, who adds:

"If our youth, in the future, does not learn about it, Christianity will disappear by itself."

Herr Bormann is singularly ignorant of history when he counts on the disappearance of Christianity. He forgets that it survived and grew through that 300-year period after Ascension of Christ with very few priests to "hammer it into the receptive minds of children" and against the determined effort of the whole power of the Roman Empire to stamp it out.

Perhaps Bormann's delusion in this respect is part and parcel of that mental obsolescence revealed in his boast about the "scientific foundation" of National Socialism. He is possibly not aware that the purely "scientific" explanation of human life and the universe was permanently exploded by metaphysicians who lived long before Christ.

View of God

Herr Bormann next jumps, in his amazing circular, to the Nazi view of God:

"We consider God Almighty as the natural dynamic which counted planets of the universe, and not as a silly Christian image of an almost-human sitting in the clouds. To think that God can be influenced by prayers and other astounding rituals, needs strong doses of naïveté."

To those who had thought that the Nazi doctrine was based on a powerful philosophical foundation, this puerile nonsense will come as a shocking revelation.

Bormann and his Nazi friends appear to be as profoundly ignorant of metaphysics as they patently are of theology.

The conception of a personal and absolute God, which finds full richness of expression only in Christianity, was formulated long before the Christian era by very philosophers whom the Nazis would call the "fathers of science" as the only conception capable of satisfying reason.

The difference between the Nazis and true science is this:

Science admits that its function and range is purely empiric, that is to say, concerned only with the manifestations and behavior of matter as revealed in the five senses. It lays no claim to knowledge of the reality of matter which lies within the realm of metaphysics.

The Nazis, in their juvenile ignorance, appear to think that science explains everything — a claim which the greatest scientists have never in this world made.

The realm of science is only a part of life, as every scientist knows. The Nazis put themselves in the ludicrous position of the fabled ten blind men of India who each siezed a part of an elephant and thought he had caught hold of the entire animal.

The Nazis' view of human life is as limited and as profoundly ignorant as that of the blind man who felt the elephant's tail and declared that the elephant was like a rope.

All Must Go

Ardent Protestants, however, need feel no sinister elation over the Nazi denunciation of the Catholic Faith. They are all alike, says Bormann.

"We make no difference between the confessions. Protestants are just as inimical to Nazism as are the Catholics."

Behind all this shallow-pated nonsense, based on an abysmal misunderstanding of the simplest philosophical and metaphysical principles, must, as I say, be profoundly disturbing to the people of France and Italy, because, in the case of the latter, religion is a vital state force, and, in the case of the former, Marshal Petain must reconcile his continual compromise with the Axis and with the instance to bark because the Nazi evil with his adherence to the Church which charges him to resist evil with all his power.

Now that the Axis has openly declared itself anti-Christian and therefore essentially evil, Petain must, if he is honest, either renounce Hitler and openly fight him or relinquish his Christian allegiance.

Certainly no amount of casuistry can justify any kind of compromise or even the appearance of compromise on the part of a Christian man with a force which has declared itself to be anti-theistic and anti-Christ.

If Petain is sincere, he will decide for himself one way or the other.

Plebiscite Urgent

Canadians Must Do Duty By Putting Nation Above Self

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, Bulletin: Since the beginning of this war the Canadian Legion, with other ex-service-men's associations have asked the Government for a total war policy. This means conscription of wealth, utilities and manpower —all we possess mentally and physically.

We are soon to have a plebiscite to relieve the Government from its election pledge "No Conscription." When we consider what the people of Britain suffered and died for; the Chinese coolie who yesterday was a patriot and today is a hero; when we consider the Russians, that living breakwater against whom Hitler threw his forces in vain, despite the dismal prophecies of some of our religious and financial wizards, we wonder "What if Russia had not been forced into this war?"

The heroic Dutch in the Indies, who have done very little their part for freedom; the U.S.A., what they have done and are doing, our own boys at Hong Kong and other places, and the rest of the people who have and are suffering so much, an adequate vengeance will be surely exacted for all those deaths and all this suffering.

Nothing could do us more harm and Hitler more good than the defeat of the object of this plebiscite. Here is where we common people do our part. (By "Common people" I mean the worker —the producer, who will win this war.) It will be won by those of our class.

We must all do our part, vote and see that others vote. Let us go on to victory, having as our slogan, and I can think of nothing better: "There never can be a time when anyone in this country can be considered exempt from doing their duty to this country."

Anti-Soviet Folly

Editor, Bulletin: In a recent letter, "John Doe" puts Churchill above criticism, has all who dare to so rebelled as bad "Communists" who would be "liquidated" in Russia for saying anything. This is a sly way of bringing in anti-Soviet lies so dear to Hitler.

"Communists" who recently forced Churchill to get rid of standpat, Munich elements from the British cabinet were M.P.'s from all parts represented by the Far East situation and the cagey attitude of certain ministers towards Russia. It has created a new spirit in Britain. However, there is no record that the lone Communist M.P. was among the critics.

The pro-Nazi scum who were tried and shot in Russia were proved to be traitors, guilty of murder and sabotage. Ex-U.S. Ambassador Davies states this in his book, "Mission to Moscow". It is good for all of us they were found out in good time. If this "shooting" business was true, the Soviet people would never have fought as they have done. That should be proof but Litvinov, now in Washington, has been "shot" so many times that it is a wonder he has any ammunition left to fight Hitler with.

Churchill, too, "has saved these Communists who are just waiting to turn on him". If anyone has been saved, it is the Communists who lead the Russian people. It was the Red Army at his back that stopped Hitler from invading Britain and the people there know this. It was this army that stopped Hitler's heads from rolling in the streets Europe and Asia, linking up with the Jap rascals, with Canada next.

Labor Minister Mitchell stated recently that only a "miracle" could save us and everything must be done to crush the Nazi monsters. Yet, the "John Doe" type are still more concerned with fighting Soviet Russia than Hitler when we must have full cooperation with the Russian people or perish. It's a high time to cut out this anti-Soviet folly.

Tire Problem

Editor, Bulletin: We are faced with a rubber shortage which is going to be felt by those who need tires.

Many valuable ideas may result from our necessity to find a substitute, but the one mentioned in the press to date is tires of solid oak. This is an obviously unsuitable material.

Tire casings consist largely of cotton, which we still have. These "carcases," as I believe they are called, could be treated with some tough heavy compound such as glyptol, which is much used in electrical insulation. Instead of tubes, cores of cork could be used, as it is light, strong and resilient and also repairable.

These are only suggestions which might be used as a basis for experimentation, from which a serviceable tire might be evolved to tide us over the emergency.

Not Democratic

There is not a doubt that the great majority of our citizens are convinced the Senate should be abolished.

It is absolutely incompatible with our ideas of democracy that those who are not elected by the people should have the power to veto the will of the electorate, as expressed by their representatives in parliament. And I believe the money expended could be put to better use than pensioning a lot of men who might have outlived their usefulness as far as the government of Canada is concerned, and are not in need of financial assistance.

I think it would mean a cut of about $600,000 in our expenditure. In these days, when we talk in billions, that does not seem much, but it would buy a lot of war savings stamps.

Lambing

BIRMINGHAM MAIL

The current sight of newborn lambs on Midland farms conjures up visions of the coming of Spring. Flock masters and shepherds from now on will have a busy time, for the lambing season means constant watch on the flocks, and long dark hours away from the fireside. The shepherd has no definite starting or "knocking-off" time; for him it is night and day work seven days a week. But shepherds are tough, cast-iron men, and it is the older men who do best in trying weather.

Some of them on big Midland farms are septuagenarians who know the idiosyncrasies of every ewe in the flock, and whose pride it is not to lose a lamb, whatever the hazards of the season.

To the farmhouse you may occasionally see one or two orphan or weakly lambs lying before the kitchen fire in cold weather. These "cade" lambs, as the countryfolk call them, are reared by hand-feeding with a bottle, and are the especial pets of the children.

BBC's Dog

LONDON CALLING

Mickey, the dog belonging to the underground theatre which is the base of the BBC Empire Entertainments Unit, has been retired. Mickey always is more disdainful air and a loud bark directed at all bombs, blondes and bandsmen.

His barking at bombs was tolerated, and although he had never been known to bite, his bark became one of the things that there was every likelihood of its being heard in the Pacific, East-ern, African and North American services of the BBC.

A deputation having decided to remove him, Mickey was rescued by a member of the canteen staff, who has made a new home for him in a London suburb, where already he has a big bark at bombs, he will not have to suffer blondes and bandsmen. Nor will he have the opportunity of stealing the show from them by untimely interruptions.

Essentially a deep-water dweller, the broadbill swordfish comes to the surface to satisfy its weakness for sunbaths.

Soldier Finds His Cot Slept In By Brother

LACOMBE. — One of the rarest occurrences of its kind took place in the barracks of a Canadian regiment in England recently, when Gunner Ernest Webster of Lacombe was assigned to a cot which had been used by his brother, Pte. Mark Webster, almost a year before. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Webster of Lacombe.

Mark was the first of the young men to go overseas, making the trip with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals. Ernest followed about a year later with the 22nd Battery, 13th Field Regiment. Assigned to a cot in one of the bigger barracks in the 48th County, Ernest was surprised to find written on it the name and regimental number of his broiher Mark. They met on the parade ground some days later and had a grand re-union.

Major And Minor Notes—By John Oliver

ALTHOUGH the musical season is moving toward its conclusion, there are several important events remaining on the agenda. Among these are the fifth and final concert of the Women's Musical Club Celebrity Series, at the Empire theatre on April 30, with the soloist none other than Gladys Swarthout, mezzo-soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association. Originally scheduled for February, this was postponed until April 30, when Miss Swarthout found it necessary to set it back. That the postponement has not resulted in any diminution of interest is evidenced by the many inquiries received by Mrs. Ernest Meaden, manager of the series, for tickets. As is known, most of the seats were taken early in the series, when season subscriptions were opened. Thus, only a few are available for each concert, and indications are that the few for Miss Swarthouts appearance will be snapped up almost as soon as they are released.

John Barbirolli, conductor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Society, is to make a flying trip to Great Britain to conduct a series of concerts by the London Philharmonic Orchestra. His passage was arranged by British authorities. He will pay all his own expenses and will lead the London orchestra, not only in London, but at other points. It is expected that he will return to this side of the Atlantic in July. Leading Educationalists Shape History Of School

By JUNE GOULD

Work of Strathcona Collegiate Institute, before the present building now known as Strathcona High school was erected, was carried on in the second storey of Grandin Street school, which now forms part of King Edward school. The corner stone for the present S.I.S. building was laid in September, 1907, and the formal opening took place on February 17, 1909. At this this time only the first floor of the building was used by the staff and pupils of the Collegiate Institute.

The second floor with the exception of the board room, was leased to the University of Alberta.

The first principal was D. S. McKenzie, later deputy minister of education for the province. In 1904 Mr. McKenzie resigned and he was succeeded by W. H. Thompson, B.A., who carried on until the midsummer of 1908. In the autumn of 1908 G. A. McKee, B.A., took over this position and upon his shoulders rested the responsibility of reorganizing the school to meet the needs of the now growing city of Strathcona. The staff of the Strathcona Collegiate Institute now numbered three, headed by G. A. McKee, B.A., who some years after became superintendent of all the Edmonton schools.

The English teacher was Dr. G. F. McNally, now deputy minister of education, and the science teacher was G. W. Robertson, B.A., who, many years later, was destined to play the leading part in a dramatic chapter in Scona's history when Strathcona Composite High school was formed four years ago.

Announce Results Amateur Contest

By BEATRICE GRANT

In the past strenuous week Westglen students wishing to follow the "Call of Spring" were unable to do so because of the Easter examinations which for some weeks in last formal examinations of the year. The school will seem strangely deserted for the next few days.

Results of the amateur contest were posted on the bulletin board. Clem Kerr, the engineer, won the first prize of four war savings stamps. Shirley MacDonald, who took the lead in the wee operetta came second and Marion McLellan, vocalist, third.

Committees for the year-book will be busy during the holidays and all grade twelve pictures are to be taken during the week.

Holiday Time For Students

By LEO ORNEST

Thursday afternoon saw students and teachers of McDougall Commercial High School commence a 12-day Easter holiday. School will resume on April 13.

Club activity during the past week has been very small with everyone waiting until the time came to put the books away for a rest.

Monday, the Student's Union held an ice cream sale which proved highly successful. All proceeds were donated to the War Effort.

The Comet Year book staff announced that the year book would make its appearance shortly after the Easter holidays.

Easter Exams Are Prelude To Holiday Time

By MARGARET PENDLETON

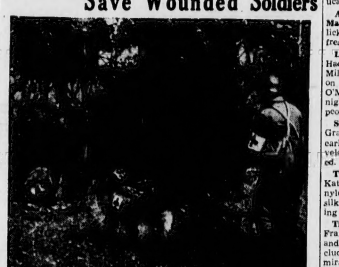

Weary faces and flagging footsteps predominated this week as students of Victoria High school commenced to write their Easter exams. Groans of self-pity and sighs of envy emanated from many a grade 12 student as he heard the merry laughter of a grade 10 student with only two exams to write.

With that "I wish I knew a lot more" expression, students pondered over their last paper Thursday afternoon, putting the finishing touches on it, then rushed out to receive their report, ready to enjoy ten days of fun-packed holidays.

Not even the thought of gloomy results will mar such pleasures as roller-skating, dancing, hiking and numerous other pastimes commonplace to "teen-agers".

Vic girls who are graduating are reminded to get their pictures taken during the Easter holidays, so the honor group pictures may be taken as soon as possible after Easter.

Russian "Dogs Of War" Save Wounded Soldiers

Good training, like that pictured, has made Russia's "Red Cross" dogs highly valuable in action. Above, an Airedale is leading a medical corpsman to a "wounded" soldier.

Many a Russian soldier, wounded in the all-out drive against Hitler's retreating "invaders," owes his life to a dog. Like most armies, the Russians use dogs in a number of ways. Helping soldiers on patrol, bringing munitions to the front line, laying telephone wire during the front, carrying messages and searching out wounded men for the Red Cross first aid units are some of the more conventional canine war services.

But the Russian dogs now are performing a new duty. They are dragging wounded Soviet soldiers from the battlefield on small sledges after the dogs have been discovered by the medical corps troops.

SPEED COUNTS IN BITTER WEATHER

This new work of the dogs is highly important, because, in the bitter, sub-zero cold of Russia's winter, the speed with which wounded men are taken back to dressing stations very often spells the difference between life and death.

The dogs have proved efficient in the work. They learn to move close to the ground, hence, few of them get wounded. Alsatians, the familiar "police dog" type, are used mostly, but Airedales have also been found capable, trustworthy and strong.

The Soviet army gives the dogs good care, veterinary service including preventive and prophylactic treatment. Dogs that get wounded are treated near the front or on the actual battlefield. In Moscow there are elaborate veterinary hospitals where army animals of all sorts are treated.

One Russian Signal Corps soldier holds a reel of telephone wire as another directs their canine "fellow-soldier." The dog will race to the objective, unreeling the wire as he does.

Joint Easter Sunday Morning Church Service

The Boys' groups are joining with the C.G.I.T. this year in their Easter Sunday morning church service. This service, Sunday as in past years, will begin at 8:30 a.m. in First Baptist Church.

The groups have been fortunate in securing Mr. Clark of Westmount church as speaker. Miss Leona Falkenburg, president of Girls' Council will conduct the service, and a representative from the boys' groups will also take part. Girls' Council will be in the choir loft and a duet will be sung by May and Cora Shalen. Miss Neida Faulkner will be organist.

All C.G.I.T. and boys' groups, as well as their friends will join in the service. Those who were present at the Christmas service will be glad of the opportunity to attend an inspiring Easter service.

Mrs. Ross Vant Is Speaker At Guide Meeting

Mrs. J. Ross Vant, chairman of the Nutrition Committee of the Council of Social Agencies, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the North Edmonton Division of the Girl Guide Association on Wednesday evening. She spoke on the relation of food to national health.

According to a recent survey it was revealed that 78 per cent of Edmonton women are suffering from anemia, which is caused from the lack of iron in the body. To guard against this deficiency, Mrs. Vant stressed the necessity of eating proper protective foods. One important protective food is cod liver oil, especially so in Edmonton, because being situated so far north people do not get the complete benefit from the sun's direct rays.

"Another essential food is brown cereal, and everyone should have at least one cup every day or two slices of brown bread. To further protect the human machinery we should eat one tablespoon of wheat germ daily. These foods act as a stimulant to the entire nervous system and have a direct affect on the digestive system," she said.

Mrs. Vant stressed the importance of milk in everyone's diet. Milk is the only way we can insure good teeth and bones. Every child should get at least three cups daily and each adult should have at least one cup daily," she concluded.

The next speaker in this series will be Mrs. Coombs. Her topic is "Personality Plus".

Most-Shot-At King Is Saved By Reign End

When Mussolini's troops conquered Albania in 1939 it marked the end of the reign of self-proclaimed King Zog and, paradoxically enough, saved his life.

Zog, who held the little-relished title of the most-shot-at-king-alive until he fled the country, squelched 20 revolts in his half-savage nation and recovered from eight wounds. More than 800 of his wild mountaineer subjects have been slain to kill him and it was only a matter of time before the soldier-politician-king fell victim to an assassin's bullet.

After the royal family had departed for more hospitable and secluded rest-havens, the occupation authorities issued the stamp above. Portraying a native's dress costume, the stamp was issued in commemoration of the resolution adopted by the National Assembly offering the Albanian Crown to Italy.

After the World War I, Ahmed Beg Zogu, who had commanded a contingent of troops co-operating with the Albanians, emerged as the "saviour of his country." Step by step he connived and intrigued until, in 1925, he was elected president.

It was but a step to dictator and thence to King Zog I in 1928.

College Paper Studies Music

Survey of the history of music forms during the past centuries is presented in the last issue of "Xavier" the monthly publication of the Edmonton Jesuit College.

Purpose of music and its place as "a universal language" is discussed, and a study of the French composers is also presented.

In addition, there is a report on the building up of a Canadian music, with native composers and local expression.

Greater Part U.S. Housing Private Effort

The important part private builders are playing in providing needed United States housing is revealed in the year-end statistical summary of American Builder. Out of a total of 618,000 new nonfarm dwelling units provided during the year, 519,000, or 84.4 per cent, were built by private builders.

What is of even greater importance, more than two-thirds of these privately built houses were in sections designated by the president as defence areas, where critical shortage exists. This sets a clear clue for the coming year's program, American Builder points out.

TO BE INCREASED

The 6½ million U.S. population represented by defense areas will be swelled by additional war expansion and by three shifts a day, calling for more workers and, consequently, more housing. The 1941 analysis, based on Bureau of Labor Statistics permits in 2,400 communities, is as follows:

	Units	Costs
Privately built	519,000	$2,690,000,000
Public housing	99,000	500,000,000
Total	618,000	$3,100,000,000

The American Builder estimate for 1942 is a total of 800,000 dwelling units, of which 378,000 will be privately built and owned and 122,000 will be public housing.

Even though the badly disorganized public housing agencies get going beyond expectation it is doubtful that they will be able to build more than 125,000 units in 1942, the report says. The record in 1941 was far below expectations.

On the other hand, private residential builders operating in thousands of well-established small firms in defense areas have exceeded all expectations. They built more low-cost, single-family houses than in any year since 1925. The average value per unit in 1941 was $5,000.

Porcelain Nicks Can Be Repaired

The bane of the housewife's existence is nicks, dents and scratches on the gleaming white porcelain of kitchen and bathroom fixtures. They can be repaired with a new kit containing all the materials for covering marks on refrigerators, sinks, tubs, ranges and washing machines.

This kit contains a bottle of pure-white lacquer enamel, bottle of yellow, blue, brown and black tinting colors, a bottle of glazing compound, solvent, spatula, sandpaper, mixing tins and brushes.

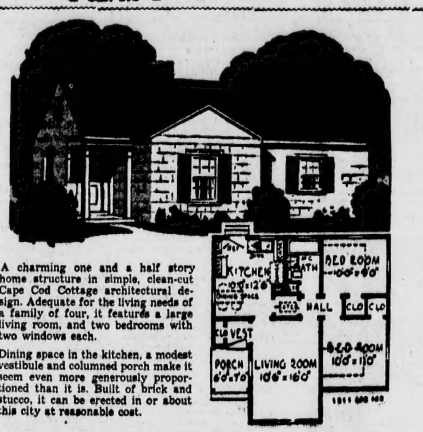

If the porcelain is damaged only slightly, a coat of the enamel tinted to the proper shade, left to dry over night, should cover the damage.

Be careful about tinting the lacquer with one of the colors. It should match the shade of white of the fixture. You may not realize until you start adding a bit of yellow or blue that the pure white, when dry, might not match the rest of the finish. Try a little at a time to get exactly the right shade.

If your fixtures are not porcelain, but baked enamel, the lacquer and glazing compound may be applied with the soft camel-hair brush, supplied with the kit, exactly as on porcelain. Glazing compound alone can be used to fill in dents on white enamel finishes.

An attempt to link Europe and America by telegraph was begun in 1800 by way of Alaska and Siberia but the Atlantic cable stopped it.

A charming one and a half story home structure in simple, clean-cut Cape Cod Cottage architectural design. Adequate for the living needs of a family of four, it features a large living room, and two bedrooms with two windows each.

Dining space in the kitchen, a modest vestibule and columned porch make it seem even more generously proportioned than it is. Built of brick and stucco, it can be erected in or about this city at reasonable cost.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Maureen O'Brien and Ivy Oeschger, in their new book, "Culbertson for the Joneses," recommend the use of a point count for no trump bidding. The ace is valued at 4, king 3, queen 2, jack 1, 10 counts ¼.

In this system, the requirements for an opening bid of one no trump is a total of 15 to 17 points. About 25 points in the combined hands are necessary to make three no trump. The normal requirement for a raise of one no trump to two is nine points, which brings the partnership total up to the game requirement.

"This conservatism," the authors remark, "is due to the fact that after a raise in two no trump, opener will go on to three no trump unless his hand is a rockbottom minimum."

Today's hand shows the operation of this system. South has 16 points, just over the minimum. North has nine points, just enough to bid two no trump.

Now South will probably bid three. Although he has only two tens over a minimum hand, he figures that at worst, with North having a minimum raise, the contract should not be set badly.

The actual play shows the risk in going to game. Declarer has to win one of two finesses to make contract. Also, the adverse hearts plus their entries must not be too unfavorably distributed.

Airplane Comes Off Second Best With Boy On Bike

LONDON, Ont., April 4.—(BUP)—It wasn't quite a man-bites-dog case, but an airplane did come off second best in an argument with a bicycle yesterday.

Walter E. Hollowell, member of the London Flying Club, was coming in for a landing when he saw a boy on a bicycle on the field directly in front of him.

Hollowell yanked back the stick and tried to zoom, but failed to clear a tree at the end of the field. The plane flopped over into the road, and the pilot suffered minor injuries.

Steel Window Panel Useful For Blackout

Armored blackout protection as part of your screen and storm-sash system has been announced by a manufacturer of convertible screen-storm sash.

The blackout panels are of solid steel and fit into the space in the window-frame unit designed to hold a glass or an insect-cloth panel. They prevent glass from flying, as well as light from showing.

The steel type originally was designed for use in closing summer homes for the winter as burglar protection. It can be inserted in place of glass or screen in a few seconds for each opening.

Those who already own this kind of interchangeable screen and storm sash made by this company will find it relatively easy to add the blackout panel. Those who are planning to buy either screens or storm sash might consider this new tripe service. You can buy the frames equipped only with the steel panels for about $16 each, installed, for an average-size window.

This type of equipment usually is installed on the outside of double-hung windows and on the inside of outward-opening casement windows.

Britishers Spend Holiday Planting Vegetable Plots

LONDON, April 4.—(AP)—Britain associates Easter time with warnings of still more "fortress" economies to follow a hectic year during which statisticians figure the nation spent $612 a second paying for the Second Great War.

The majority of the people, which has half its 40-odd millions mobilized in national service, used their holiday time at home preparing and planting vegetable plots.

Looking them Over

by JACK KELLY

IF THE recalled Grads and Comets had taken a trimming yesterday afternoon from the Wichita Thurstons, none of the Edmontonians on hand would have been surprised, but the old Grad magic still seems to be there—at least enough of it to beat the classy Kansas gals 40-23.

It is no small tribute to the former Grads' ability that they were able to step back on the basketball floor after an absence of two years and, with less than a month's practice, defeat such an outstanding club as Coach Buddy Reynolds brought up from Wichita.

When Noel MacDonald topped all scorers on both teams with a total of 14 points, fans could close their eyes and imagine that they were back in the pre-war days when the Grads were at their peak as the greatest girls' basketball team that the world has yet seen.

You had to shut your eyes though to imagine that. The arena had changed since those days and hundreds of navy, army and air force uniforms in the crowd couldn't be blinked away.

It was a fine show yesterday afternoon that the girls and units from the Royal Canadian Air Force staged to aid the Kinsmen's drive for milk for British kiddies. The game was first class, the R.C.A.F. band from I.T.S. was outstanding and the physical training display by a group from No. 3 Manning Depot, R.C.A.F., was splendid.

Tonight's game will have the added attraction of the famous precision drill display by the Air Cadets—and the I.T.S. band playing swing music.

When Canada and the United States speak proudly of their good neighbor relationship, they aren't doling out malarkey. A stirring example of this neighborliness is given by the Wichita girls gladly coming up here to play this series in order to help provide milk for those little kiddies over there in Britain where the Nazi bombs are falling.

Nearly all of the Wichita girls are working. To come up here they had to lose pay for the time they are away, but they did it without hesitation.

Even if you can't get out to the Arena for tonight's final game, you owe it to those children over in the British Isles and to the men and women putting over this charity series to at least buy a ticket.

Adversity May Do Us Some Good Yet

NOW is the time for all uncomfortably clothed males to arise and demand that the government take drastic measures, in the holy name of war material conservation, to outfit men in clothes that are a pleasure to wear, says Hal Straight, sports editor of the Vancouver Sun.

It gives me great pleasure to second this movement—but I will not go for the Roman toga model of apparel that my coast confrere ardently advocates. Hal is thinking of creating a streamlined effect for his own well-padded frame when he toys with the toga theme.

Personally I will make Ottawa a proposition. I will wear ankle length sox winter and summer and gladly donate them the six or seven inches of sock leg saved if I be allowed to have cuffs on my pants. In fact, I will make just about any sacrifice to save that cuff. If Ottawa won't swap cuffs for sock legs, then I will throw in suit vests—and if it comes to a final showdown I will even give them suit coats if they will only lift the ban on cuffs.

Let us dispense with vests, braces and belts and replace them with an eight-inch sash around the waist—a simple one without tassles or daggers. Replace the present style of suit coat with a corduroy or flannel one made on the comfortable cut of a smoking jacket, clip our sox off to ankle length, replace our crawls to snappy little bow affairs, give us strong sport pants (with cuffs) and we men will be perfectly comfortable and happy for the duration of the war.

If you are a stickler, I will add for your benefit that it is taken for granted that a shirt goes with the above outfit. The shirt would be for very hot days and very formal wear. At other times we could wear a fine-knit jersey with a turtle neck.

If you can think of a more comfortable, serviceable and laundry-defying outfit than the above, let me have your design and I'll join your party.

Looks Like Yankees Again

St. Louis Browns May Be Club To Liven Up American

TAMPA, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—This is getaway week in the baseball training camps, and as the sun-tanned athletes hit the exhibition trail leading to opening day April 14 there is talk of only one team that might possibly inject a little pepper into an otherwise unpromising Yankee-dominated American League race. That club is St. Louis Browns.

Every manager who has met the Browns this spring says they are a good, fast outfit that will cause a lot of trouble". It was one of the three teams in the American League to play better than .500 ball after decoration day last season, the others being the Yankees and Washington.

Here is the order, then, in which the coming war-time campaign might wind up:

(1) New York, (2) Chicago, (3) Boston, (4) St. Louis, (5) Cleveland, (6) Detroit, (7) Washington, (8) Philadelphia.

The Yankees, winners last year by a lop-sided 17 games, are fundamentally so much better than any other team in the junior circuit that there is no real comparison.

Chicago White Sox, who were third last year with a .500 average, appear to have the pitching to boost them up to second place this time, say about 25 games off the pace.

Boston, despite the loss of Joe Cronin's power at the plate and the fact that it is unusually allergic to the draft, should have enough left to earn third. Ted Williams, one of the really great hitters of our time, probably could finish that high by himself.

Fourth does not appear too high a goal for the Browns considering the quality of this opposition. Sewell has a pair of good-looking southpaw rookie pitchers, Stan Ferrens and Frank Biscan, and another youngster named Vernon Stephens at short who might turn out to be the freshman of the year.

GREAT EXHIBITION OF FREE-THROW SHOOTING

Grad-Comet Cagers Defeat Wichita 40-23

Second Game Of Series Tonight

Edmonton's Grad-Comet combination defeated Wichita Thurstons 40-23 before 2,600 fans at the Arena on Friday in the first of the two-game basketball series in aid of the Kinsmen's "Milk for British Fund". The second game is played tonight, starting at 8:30.

The Edmonton girls outscored their rivals in three of the quarters, showing a marked superiority in shooting. In fact they chalked up a record which has never been excelled here for accuracy on free throws, counting in 14 out of 17 attempts.

The Kansas girls were also decidedly "on" when it came to free throws, too, dropping the ball through the hoop seven times in 11 tries to make a total for both teams of 21 out of 28, which is really something and gives a good picture of the class of basketball the two clubs put up yesterday afternoon. "Buddy" Reynolds has a well drilled and capable quintette and they showed the effect of good coaching, sticking possibly a little too closely to their plays at times, though, instead of shooting. They really tried to finish off their plays close in, the defensive work of the Grad-Comets often playing havoc with their shooting.

SHOOTING OFF

The visitors were considerably off the basket in the first half, but came right back in the third quarter to belie out-shoot and outscore the local hoopsters. In the third period they counted 12 points as against the Grad-Comet's four, but let the Edmonton girls pile up quite a margin in the first half.

Thurstons were on the short end of a 13-5 count in the first quarter and were down 15-3 in the next, giving Edmonton a lead of 28-8 at the breather. The winners counted eight points in the final quarter, Wichita picking up three.

Thurstons made eight field tries good out of 67, while the Grad-Comets came up with 13 out of 54.

SCORES 14 POINTS

Top scorer for the afternoon was Noel MacDonald with 14 points, made up of four field baskets and six free throws out of eight tries. Rita Dann, who went through the entire game without a rest, corralled eight points, four of them coming from the same number of free throws.

Laura Strachan made good her one attempt at a free throw. Helen Northup Alexander missed one out of two free throws, but contributed a total of seven points. Winnie Gallen had a pair of foul throws and made good on both.

Hazel McConaughy Reynolds was top scorer for the visitors with nine points, three coming from five free throws and incidentally Hazel played really heads-up basketball all afternoon and was easily the most effective of the visitors.

THREE OUT OF THREE

Delores Mohr also showed uncanny ability in sinking free throws, ringing the bell three times out of three tries.

Lois Poole got one out of two free throws, but added a total of seven points to her team's total.

Several of Bill Douglas' Comets were used into the game to relieve Coach Percy Page's Grads, and they certainly held their own. Peggy Colville being particularly good. She worked in nicely with Rita Dann, has plenty of speed, knows her basketball and is a good shot as well.

First point of the game went to Winnie Gallen, who sank a free shot, but Dolores Mohr came right back with a pair. Noel MacDonald evened the count and then Rita Dann found the first field basket. Corene Smith replied for Wichita, but from here on the visitors began to slip back, leaving the Grad-Comets ahead 28-8 at half time.

THURSTON'S RALLY

Thurstons rallied in the third session and began to roll up the score, cutting Edmonton's lead down eight points. They slipped back five however in the final quarter.

The I.T.S. band furnished the music for the afternoon by kind permission of Wing Commander Johnston. Sergeant - bandmaster Kirkwood directed and got a real band from the crowd.

The flag ceremony was very effective, the band playing God Save the King while the Union Jack was unfurled and the Star Spangled Banner as the American flag appeared.

The physical training demonstration was under the direction of F. O. Laithwaite and was presented with the kind permission of Wing Commander W. G. Webber.

New York Rovers Win Championship

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. April 4 (AP)—New York Rovers beat Atlantic City Sea Gulls 7-4, here Friday night and won the championship of the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States.

The victory deadlocked the Rovers and Washington Eagles for first place in the A.H.A.U.S. final standing, but New York was declared the winner on the goals scored during the championship play-off series. New York scored 47 goals against 41 for Washington.

Top Scorer

Noel MacDonald Robertson, one of the Grads' all-time greats, gave another demonstration of accuracy in shooting in yesterday's game against Wichita Thurstons. Noel scored four field baskets out of nine tries and sank six free throws out of eight attempts for a total of 14 points.

Whirlaway's First Major Test Dixie Handicap

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 4.—(AP)—If Whirlaway, soon to embark upon a campaign to establish a new all-time money-earnings record for race horses, wins half of his races this season, trainer Ben Jones will be satisfied.

"He's in the hands of the handicappers now," Ben Jones remarked yesterday and he said it as if heavy, heavy hung over his head.

Just how many times the long, bushy-tailed Calumet farm star, winner of the "triple crown" last year, will be sent to the post in an all-out effort to earn $85,662, the sum he needs to tie Seabiscuit's record of $437,730, is uncertain. However, he'll probably have a couple of tuneups in Kentucky before his first major test in the Dixie Handicap at Pimlico in May.

Although Ben has 31 events with a pot of gold aggregating $610,000 to choose from, he said Whirly's course virtually is uncharted, but he made it plain that the spoil—the richest races—would be picked.

"It all depends upon the handicappers, Whirly's condition and track and weather conditions," Jones said, adding that the son of Blenheim II is ready to go to work any time.

Barron Shatters Ashville Par For Half-Wway Lead

ASHVILLE, N.C., April 4.—(AP)—Herman Barron of White Plains, N.Y., the western open champion, took the half-way lead Friday with his second straight par-breaking round for a total of 137 in the $5,000 Land of the Sky meet.

Lawson Little, former United States open champion, was in second place two shots back of Barron but the scoring fire-works were provided by Henry Picard of Oklahoma City.

Picard shot a scorching 30 on the first nine holes but faded to a 38 on the back nine. His 68 placed him in a four-way tie for third place with defending champion Beg Hogan, Jimmy Demaret and young Bill Nary, pro at Bing Crosby's Rancho Santa Fe club in California.

Hogan carded a 69 Friday. Demaret, getting his second eagle in as many days on the 512-yard seventh hole, also had a 69. Nary, a strapping youth, put together two rounds of 70.

Co-leader with Barron and Little at 69 after the first round, Byron Nelson and Jimmy Hines slipped to 73 and 75 respectively.

Montreal Goalie Spectacular

Oshawa Generals Take 4-3 Overtime Win From Royals

TORONTO, April 4.—(CP)—The waves that rolled on Jean Paul Renaud with ceaseless fury finally broke over the little Montreal Royals' goalie late in the third period, and before the storm subsided Oshawa Generals went on to a 4-3 overtime victory Friday night in the eastern Canadian junior hockey championship series.

The victory gave Generals a two-game lead in the best-of-seven final with the third game scheduled for Montreal Monday night.

Buc Davies was the Oshawa hero with his goal in the overtime period but it was the battered Renaud who stood out among a long list of stars. With less than five minutes to play, the Royals led 2-0 on a brace of goals by Bert Sheppard even though Generals had carried most of the play.

Renaud had made a dozen seemingly-impossible stops to hold that lead, sprawling, kicking and catching in spectacular fashion. Then Johnny Gauthier drew a tripping penalty and the Oshawa flood rolled through the goalie.

THREE FAST GOALS

Renaud didn't even see Bep Guidolin's long shot through a hold dozen players at 13:44 and, just 22 seconds later, Red Tilson and Ken Smith carried the puck to the goalmouth from where Lloyd Curry banged home the equalizer. In little more than another minute Tommy Dedew put Generals in front.

Eddie Emberg laced home the equalizer on Pat Tracey's pass at 18:06, forcing the game into overtime, and Tracey, a hero back from the Royal blue line, gave the game away when he let Davies steal the puck from him to coast in and beat Renaud with a low shot.

7,800 SEE GAME

It was a fast, thrilling battle that left a crowd of 7,000 limp with excitement. There were 18 penalties; two of them misconducts to Oshawa players for arguing about minors, but they were penalties for trips and boarding and there was no indication on either team's part to rough it up.

Renaud stood out in the Royals lineup, with Sheppard, Gauthier, Emberg and Albert Voss giving him good support. Tilson, who got two assists, was the outstanding General.

LINEUPS

Montreal—Renaud, Broderick, Tracey, Gauthier, Emberg, Stewart. Subs —McQuenion, Sheppard, Planche, T. Hale, Millar, Voss.

3,000 Railbirds See Krauts Work

MONTREAL, April 4.—(CP)—The magic name of the Krauts brought a rush of spectators Friday to watch Ottawa Flyers breeze through an hour workout in preparation for the opening game here tonight of their best of five eastern Canadian senior hockey final series against Quebec Aces.

Close to 3,000 fans sat in on the workout in the Montreal Forum and the majority obviously were on hand to watch Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart, two-thirds of the former Boston Bruin front line, Bobby Bauer, the third member of the line, is out of action due to a recent injury.

Hockey observers here believe that the Aces, fresh from victory over Glace Bay Miners in an eastern semi-final round, would have an edge on the defence over the Air Force team but that the Flyers would hold an advantage up front where they have other stars like Johnny Acheson, Buddy Hellyer, and Pickles MacNichol, in addition to the Krauts.

Buys Infielder

PHOENIX, Ariz, April 4—(AP)—Comie Mack Friday bought Bill Knickerbocker, 31-year-old second baseman, from Chicago White Sox to fill out Philadelphia Athletics' infield. Knickerbocker, obtained at the waiver price of $7,500, will join the Philadelphia squad at El Paso today. He has a major league batting average of .278.

Dodgers, Reds, Cards Favored

Three-Team Race Looms In National Loop This Year

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—Bill Brandt is back in town with a face full of Florida tan and a head full of ideas as to how the National League race will shape up.

Bill's job is to make the Phils look like the Dodgers in the spring, and the Dodgers look like the Yankees in the fall. In other words, he's the National League publicity man, and as such must be as impartial as a sales tax.

He doesn't come out and say so, but you get the idea he looks for a three-club race between the Dodgers, the Reds and the Cardinals. As for naming the winner from those three, he says it's just like playing a shell game.

"The way I see it," Bill says, "the Dodgers have the most power, the Reds have the most pitching, and the Cards are the best balanced, having more power than the Reds and more pitching than the Dodgers.

"I think the Reds have about the best pitching staff ever put together. Bill McKechnie has Bucky Walters, an old reliable; Johnny Vander Meer, whom Walters says is going to be the greatest pitcher in baseball; Elmer Riddle, who had a great season last year; Paul Derringer, still good; Joe Beggs, a fine relief man, and Junior Thompson, whose arm seems to have healed as he can throw overhand now.

"And he also has Ray Starr, the 235-year-old rookie who looks better than any of them right now.

"Now, the Dodgers are a power team. Whit Wyatt and Kirby Higbe had fine seasons last year, but aside from them the Dodger pitching was patchwork."

Owen Sound To Try Senior Boxla

TORONTO, April 4.—(CP)—The Ontario Lacrosse Association held its third wartime annual meeting here Friday with Dan Millar of St. Catharines elected president for 1942 and a new club accepted for the Senior 'A' championship.

Owen Sound Georgians will be the new senior entry, with three other senior clubs almost certain to operate and another three waiving. St. Catharine, Canadian titlist last season, Etobicoke Indians and Mimico Mountaineers indicated they will continue in senior competition. Orillia Terriers, Hamilton and Brampton may continue but definite decisions have not been made.

MANY PLAYERS IN ARMED FORCES

TORONTO, April 4.—(CP)—Eugene Dopp, secretary of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, said Friday after the annual meeting here that "almost 50 per cent" of the association's playing strength has enlisted in the Canadian armed forces.

Most of these players would be unavailable for play in O.L.A. leagues this season but the proportion was not known.

Spectators at Friday evening's draws of the western Canada table tennis tournament being held at the Y.W.C.A. gym witnessed some of the finest play ever seen in that annual event. Excellent progress is being made in the various competitions.

Highlighting last night's performances was the quarter final match in the men's open singles in which Ab. Renfrew, former Victoria city champion eliminated the Calgary expert, Jack Brown, holder of the Alberta title last year.

A total of 47 draws were run off on Friday, the afternoon games being held from 2 to 5, with the evening session going from 7:30 to 12 midnight.

One event was completed, Ken Gee and Jim Wood taking the junior doubles final from Murray Phipps and Vern Goodwin, 21-11, 16-21, 21-15.

The "B" singles with one of the largest entry lists in the tournament reached the finals, with Lloyd Wood and Ed. Trudel, both of Edmonton left in the last round.

The finals was also reached in the "B" doubles, the father and son combination of Bert Gee and Ken Gee surviving to meet Jack Strachan and Jack Mather. All are from the city.

MEN'S DOUBLES

In one bracket of the open doubles, Cave-Browne and Renfrew of Victoria will play Wilf Boyce and C. Mercer, Edmonton in what should be one of today's feature attractions. In the other bracket Crockett and Inkster of Edmonton meet the winner of the Shuman-Holt and Marshall-Hicks match. The four last named players are all from Calgary.

In the Renfrew-Brown singles the Calgary ace had match point on the coast player in the third game. He took the first two games and led 20-19 in the third, only to find Renfrew take the game to deuce to finally win.

The scores, which indicate the closeness of the game were as follows: 19-21, 24-22, 22-24, 21-12, 21-19.

W. Browne-Cave of Victoria defeated Ed Shuman of Calgary in four games and Len Marshall of Calgary defeated C. Mercer of Edmonton in three games. Ken Crockett of Edmonton took Al Hetherington of Edmonton in three games.

TONIGHT'S DRAW

Matches which will start on Saturday begin at 7:00 o'clock will see two coast players, Ab Renfrew of Victoria and W. Browne-Cave of Victoria and Len Marshall of Calgary and Ken Crockett of Edmonton opposing each other in their brackets. From all indications matches will be of the very best and spectators will see some of the best type of the game played for their benefit.

In the ladies singles, as was expected, June Boyce and Barbara Mackay, will meet, representing Edmonton and Victoria respectively. Miss Mackay was extended to 5 games to defeat Peggy Brawn of Calgary, two times Provincial champion in the semi final match that they played. Scores were as follows: 16-21, 21-12, 21-18, 12-21, 21-17. In the other semi final bracket June Boyce of Edmonton defeated C. O'Riordon of Calgary in four games.

LADIES DOUBLES

The favored team of June Boyce and Barbara Mackay will play the Calgary team of Connie O'Riordon and Peggy Brawn in the final of the Ladies Doubles.

The mixed doubles event which usually had difficulty in fielding a large entry had a very large one for the Western Canada tournament and 10 teams were represented. Semi finals tomorrow night will see B. Mackay and A. Renfrew of Victoria oppose the Edmonton team of C. Mercer and Florence Williams and in the other bracket two Edmonton double teams will fight it out. The present provincial mixed doubles champions of June and Wilf Boyce will meet A. Drummond and Ken Crockett.

Junior Singles, with a large entry from Calgary featured play that would be, until now, attributed to more advanced senior players. B. Holt of Calgary will oppose H. Sladnyk of Edmonton. Holt having defeated J. Wood of Edmonton and H. Sladnyk of Edmonton, defeating K. Gee of Edmonton.

Following are Friday's results:

Process Of Reducing List Kentucky Eligibles Under Way

By JACK GUENTHER

NEW YORK, April 4.—(BUP)—The worrisome business of hacking the Kentucky Derby field down to tabloid size began Thursday at Bowie and will continue there and in other sections of the nation for most of the month. The occasion is the opening of the eastern turf season and it figures to be a trifle grim because the work has piled up.

For more than three months the 150 assorted horses, hayburners and hides fondly named for Col. Matt Winn's big bluegrass party have been relaxing in the Florida sun or snoozing peacefully in their warm barns. But all good things must come to an end, the vacation is over. It is high time that the proud beauties were up and about their labors.

A number began attacking their chores at Bowie. The nine-day Spring meeting at this Maryland track is important because it marks the return of the gay-goes to the Atlantic seaboard and because it sets in motion the machinery which will reduce the current group of 150 Derby eligibles to a nicely compact field of about 15 by May 2.

In effect, the machinery is composed of a round-robin elimination races which will separate the wheat from the chaff, the sheep from the goats, the cream from the milk, etc., etc. Bowie's races will be mild and minor affairs but gradually the schedule will be stepped up until the 50 survivors are combed over a final time in three big stakes.

The first is the $15,000 Chesapeake Handicap which will be run a few miles from Bowie at Havre de Grace. This race is Maryland's big prep of the better Derby eligibles and in the past it has produced at least one good horse per running. A few of them were Pictor, Porter's Cap, Gilded Knight, War Admiral, Cavalcade and Whiskery.

ALSAB'S STARTER

The Chesapeake is run at a mile and 1-16 and this year it is heralded as Alsab's jumping off point. The 1941 juvenile champion is now in Florida and will be shipped to Kentucky shortly. If he is in good shape, he will be routed back to Maryland for a shot at the $15,000 purse and a final chance to tighten himself for the Run of the Roses.

The Chesapeake will be followed by the $10,000 Bluegrass Stakes at Keeneland Park in Kentucky. This track will open on April 9 and the Calumet Farm string of eight Derby nominees will descend upon it en masse. Several minor races will lead up to the Bluegrass, which is the gala homecoming party for the horses raised in the neighborhood.

BLUEGRASS HANDICAPS

The Bluegrass will draw Sun Again, Some Chance and whatever other Calumet horses Ben Jones deems worthy. As well, it is scheduled to attract E. R. Bradley's Bless Me, the solid choice of the hard boot country. This mile and ¼ race has been won by such excellent thoroughbreds as Bimelich, Bubbling Over, Our Boots, Black Servant and Bull Lea.

Two other eligibles are the Greentree Stable's Devil Diver and Shut Out, but they also were named for the $25,000 Wood Memorial—third of the three classic Derby preps—which is run at Jamaica in New York. The Wood is the most famous event of the trio and is popularly regarded as the test of the eastern "ivy league" candidates.

If Devil Diver and Shut Out do run in the Wood, they will oppose Ben Whitaker's Requested—winner of the recent Flamingo Stakes—and possibly Apache, supposedly the best of the Belair Stud aspirants. The Wood is run one week before the Derby and is contested over a mile and 1-16 route. It is a popular race in its own right.

If the future book operators are correct, Sun Again, Some Chance, Devil Diver, Shut Out, Bless Me, Requested and Alsab are strictly the horses to beat for the $75,000 purse of the Derby. They are the low-priced candidates and the Derby won't be hurt a bit by the fact that they will take their last licks in three different stakes instead of the same one.

Of course, future book prices are representative only of guesses—even among the most informed bookies. The chances are that at least three of those cut-rate bargains won't even see Churchill Downs on Derby Day. Sounds radical? Not at all. Remember that 135 of 150 horses must be discarded in the space of a month—or that no more than one of every 10 will keep that date at the Downs.

Plan Organize New Ski Union

NEW YORK, April 4.—(AP)—Representatives of ski organizations in the United States, Canada, Chile and Bolivia will open a two-day session here today to form the Ski Union of Americas, an international organization for the promotion of skiing in the western hemisphere.

Plans for the union were first discussed in the United States last November during the convention of the National Ski Association at Milwaukee. At that time, United States and Canadian delegates agreed to withdraw from the Federation Internationale De Ski, the sport's world-wide ruling body, because it confined its competition to Europe.

Final details of the organization of the Ski Union of the Americas will be worked out during the meeting here, including the election of officers and probably the adoption of constitution and bylaws.

Feller Pitches For Navy Team

NORFOLK, Va., April 4—(AP)—Bob Feller, the American League star, went to the mound for the Navy Friday for the first time as the Norfolk naval training station team defeated Richmond University 13-1. Feller pitched the first three innings. He fanned three, walked three, yielded one hit and Richmond's run.

Played at the training station stadium, the game was witnessed by a crowd estimated at 9,000.

New Type Worry

ALEXANDRIA, La., April 4—(AP)—Manager Mel Ott of New York Giants is worried about the lost poundage of pitcher Bill McGee, who had yielded only two runs in 16 innings before he was blasted for eight hits and six runs in three frames Wednesday by Cleveland, McGee is 25 pounds lighter than last season and is so serious about keeping in shape that Ott has to order him to eat more.

Alsab, Requested Look Pretty Good Says Sunny Jim

NEW YORK, April 4—(AP)—In the spring a turf fan's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of Kentucky, and this leads you right to Sunny Fitzsimmons' front door.

Mr. Fitz' message on this year's running of the derby, May 2, is: (1) Don't start pooh-poohing Alsab off his winter races—they weren't so bad and (2) Alsab and Requested right now look like the horses to beat.

"A few of the other good two-year-olds of last year," Sunny Jim said Friday, "like Mrs. Whitney's Devil Diver and those two Ben Jones has—Sun Again and Some Chance—and Walter Chrysler's Ramillies, which had a lot of speed, are big threats. But when you come right down to it, Alsab and Requested did some pretty fair running in Florida as three-year-olds this winter, and you have to go them right now. Unless something else comes out of the rough to change things, they're the ones to beat."

Mr. Fitz is back from Florida and out at Aqueduct and is going about the business of getting a horse ready, himself, for the derby. He wouldn't mind if his Apache should wind up as his fourth derby winner.

Lethbridge Faces Real Test Tonight

LETHBRIDGE, April 4—(CP)—Lethbridge Maple Leafs, still in the running for a berth in the western finals of the Allan Cup playdowns, with an unbeaten playoff record to date on home ice against Kimberley Dynamiters, Calgary Stampeders and Port Arthur Bearcats, are hopeful of turning back the Thunder Bap champions Saturday night and force the inter-provincial series into a sixth game.

It will be another do or die effort for Leafs Saturday. Victory will mean a sixth game on Calgary ice Monday night, while defeat will mean elimination. Leafs, however, are not ready to pack away their equipment. They have a real task before them and they mean to accomplish it.

Port Arthur Bearcats, who went to Calgary Thursday, are due back here Saturday afternoon.

Toronto Sticks To Same Lineup

TORONTO, April 4.—(CP)—Detroit Red Wings checked in here Friday night led by Manager Jack Adams and Coach Eddie Goodfellow, looking for their first Stanley Cup championship in five years.

Adams had only a brief comment before his Wings dispersed to their hotel rooms.

"I hope we don't disgrace the National Hockey League," he mused to reporters. "The way some of these Toronto guys have been writing you'd think we had no business in the league."

The first game over the best of seven cup final series between Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs will be played here tonight, the second Tuesday.

The Leafs breezed through a light workout Friday following which Clarence (Hap) Day, coach of the club announced he was sticking with the same 15 players who carried the team past New York Rangers.

Debunker

It is an erroneous idea that potted plants grow best in porous clay pots, says Elen Browder Bean in her "Practical Garden Notebook." The fact is that glazed pots keep in the moisture and protect the roots next to the pot—thus keeping them from drying out before the soil shows a need of water. A testimony of this false idea are the beautiful plants grown by the negroes of the south in tin cans, old paint buckets and lard tins. It is obvious that containers for plants do not have to be porous.

—V—

What To Do

Because of the war, few people will be interested in their usual cruise to southern climes, so why not have a cruise party!

Fix up your party room as a ship—hang up a mellow moon, a few coils of rope, paper life preservers—get out your deck chairs —paint the floor for deck games of quoits and shuffle board. Hang bright flags about, and if you can, have a ship's bell to announce the various games.

Your invitations could look like real steamship tickets: "Good for one passage on the S.S. Fun-For-All."

Play deck tennis, have dance music for the ones that like to dance. Fix up the small room off your main play room as a nautical bar—and place a buffet lunch there where the guests may help themselves.

Dorothy Dix Says:

The one woman with whom no woman is ever willing to get acquainted is herself. She is suspicious of her and afraid of her. She has a hunch that she is a stranger who bodes her no good and she avoids meeting her so adroitly that it is literally true that she doesn't recognize herself by sight, as is amply proven by the way she dresses.

And if women do not know how they look, Dorothy Dix still less do they know what they can do. Few of them ever take stock of their own abilities, or realize their limitations. The great majority of them believe themselves to be geniuses who could set the river afire if only they hadn't been sidetracked by fate.

They see themselves as million-dollar cinema actresses, or authors of best sellers, or opera stars, and feel that they are being wasted in being merely wives and mothers, or good stenographers. It is because so many women never catch a glimpse of the ordinary, mediocre individuals they are that fills the world with peevish, fretful, discontented wives and business women who never learn to turn out a good job.

In exchange for many handicaps which the Creator put upon women, He gave them a consolation prize in being able to see themselves as they want to be, not as they frequently are.

Every woman has plenty of women among her friends and acquaintances who nag their husbands, neglect their children, and who are shiftless housekeepers, and as she beholds their faults and weaknesses she thanks God she is not like them.

No bossy wife ever realizes that she is a grinding tyrant. She only henpecks her husband out of his life for his own good and because she knows so much better than he does what he should eat and wear, whom he should know and what he should do. No woman dreams that she is committing a criminal act in rearing her children to be brats. She thinks, she is giving an inspiring picture of mother love in spoiling them rotten.

No matter how far we have travelled or what strange animals we have seen, none of us has ever met a woman who admitted to being lazy. The ones who lie abed in the mornings and let their husbands get up and get their breakfasts, and their children shift for themselves, always have some mysterious disease that makes them strong enough to play eighteen holes of golf, but not to sweep a floor.

Maybe the reason we women do not want to get acquainted with ourselves is because we are afraid to meet these other ladies who are so different from us and with whom we have so little in common.

Maybe it would be good for our souls' sake to meet the strangers within us and see what manner of women we really are, but it would not be one of those parties at which, as the society columns in rural papers say, "a pleasant time was had by all."

Your Baby And Mine

This is the season when a mother approaches some change in her nursing baby's established method of feeding. She cannot—in fact, dare not—slide into the summer without taking account of her ability to nurse her baby through the whole of the summer. Otherwise, she should have an end to nursing while the weather is favorable for the change.

April and May and June are splendid months for weaning. They seldom are too warm, Drastic changes in any method of feeding are undesirable when the weather is hot.

The problem the nursing mother faces is merely one of arithmetic. The average baby is nursed four or five months before he must be weaned for lack of sufficient nourishment. The mother who is a successful nurse may be able to manage this method of feeding for nine months. After that it is only the extraordinary mother who can provide sufficient nourishment so that her infant continues to develop and gain as do babies on bottle formulas.

The question then becomes: Will the baby's ninth month arrive in the middle of summer when it is menacing to make any unusual changes in feeding?

If the baby already is showing signs and symptoms of dissatisfaction with his rations, there is no question but that weaning should begin.

If he still is satisfied, then the mother must determine whether she feels it possible to continue this satisfaction for several more months. It may be surmised that babies born in October, December or January would profit by being weaned in April, May and June.

It would be splendid if all babies could be nursed during their first summer. But a cross, under-nourished baby is even less able to withstand the hot weather than a baby who is amply nourished, even if this nourishment must be by cows' milk instead of mother's milk.

A mother should be happy that she has been able to nurse her baby for five or six months and not continue nursing just because someone frightens her into the belief that it is dangerous to change before hot weather.

Baby should be given good, clean milk, kept ice cold until it is ready to be served. Nursing bottles and nipples should be treated to daily cleansing with lots of hot, soapy water. They should be washed with a bottle brush and sterilized in boiling water. Then, if baby is threatened to the new food one bottle at a time, weaning will be a minor event in his life.

"Weaning the Breast Fed Baby" offers an outline of the hours to introduce bottles and the beginning formulas according to age and weight. It may be had by sending a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Points For Parents

By EDITH THOMAS WALLACE

Mother: "Even though a coat does seem more suitable, you'll be more comfortable if you're dressed like your boys are, so it's all right for you to wear your sweater."

Son: "But, Mom, all the other boys will have an awesteer."

Mother: "That's no reason why you should be dressed improperly. I insist that you wear your coat."

Until a child feels sufficiently secure to have the courage to be different, it is advisable, when health or moral standards are not involved, to allow him to conform to the group.

Baby should be given good, clean milk, kept ice cold until it is ready to be served. Nursing bottles and nipples should be treated to daily cleansing with lots of hot, soapy water. They should be washed with a bottle brush and sterilized in boiling water. Then, if baby is threatened to the new food one bottle at a time, weaning will be a minor event in his life.

McCoy Health Service

"Five out of ten of those applying for jobs have halitosis," states a recent letter. "I ought to know, for I interview applicants coming to our employment bureau. Couldn't you write an article about the value of having a good breath? I am sure that many are held back in business simply because they have the type of breath we call offensive."

This quotation from a person who interviews people day in and day out, emphasizes the business value of a clean sweet breath but there can be little doubt that a pleasant breath is also an asset in the social world.

When the breath is unpleasant, this is usually the result of careless habits of living and we cannot get very far away from the fact that most of the causes of halitosis are simply causes which are easily remedied.

The chief causes are digestive derangements and constipation. If your stomach has been upset or "sour" and if you have chronic trouble in digesting your food, then it is likely that the disagreeable odor of the breath is due to a digestive disturbance. On the other hand, if you know the intestinal elimination has been slow, and perhaps it has been delayed for a long time, then there is a strong possibility that the unpleasant odor of the breath is due to the unwholesome state of the intestinal tract.

Bad breath due to digestive disturbances is usually easily corrected by adopting a better diet which will gradually bring about an improvement in digestive function. When due to constipation, correcting the constipated state is the best way of banishing the halitosis.

Sometimes the cause of a disagreeable odor of the breath will be found to be the consequence of diseased tonsils or of catarrh of the nose and throat. When such is the case, proper treatment of the underlying conditions will remove the cause of the halitosis.

Occasionally, the unpleasant odor is the result of overindulgence in onions and garlic. The person using the garlic may not detect the odor on the breath, but those around him will notice it.

Decaying teeth, and gum disorders such as pyorrhea and Trench Mouth, are other common causes of halitosis and in these cases the cure depends upon dental attention. In the event you think the cause lies in the mouth, consult your dentist.

Several preparations are on the market which will help you avoid the danger of offending others by an unpleasant breath. I suggest that you use one of them regularly before mixing in a group during the time that you are seeking to correct the basic cause of the halitosis.

OUR FROZEN ASSETS

By Nellie McClung

EASTER will be different this year. Outwardly it will be the same with blossoms at the altar—daffodils and tulips, pussywillows and anemones; the new hats covered with flowers, new suits and shoes, family gatherings. And there will be lovely music, and sweet voices.

"Christ the Lord is risen today. Hallelujah; Sons of men and angels say, Hallelujah."

But beyond this vision of beauty and through the sweet sounds of adoration there will be other voices, thin and distant, but insistent like the sound of waves, and we may not be able to hear the words of the choir for listening to them, and because of them our hearts will be troubled and heavy. There will be cries of hunger, cries of frustration and of rebellion and doubt. Has God forsaken us? they are asking. Has He forgotten that He ever made the world? or is this world just one cold and cruel mechanism given over to force and treachery and intrigue?

Nellie McClung

WHAT ANSWER?

What answer have we for these? What reply can we give to the voices—we who will be at church tomorrow? Can we justify God, or rather can we justify ourselves? There are those who would say quickly without stopping to take breath, that the church has done nothing. But this is not the time, nor are we in the mood to argue. The need of the world is too great for that. Let us think rather of the frozen assets of the church and pray with all our hearts that the power that was released on that first Easter Day may thaw them out into life as the sun's warmth has cracked the ice on lake and river.

On that great day—the first Easter—a plan was revealed which has in it the redemption of the whole world, with peace and plenty for all. A working plan, too, not just a blueprint; a compelling, powerful, triumphant way of life. The world was pretty dark and grim the day before Easter, in fact it corresponded very closely with the world today. That little group in Jerusalem were sore at heart, their Master was dead—He it was, they mourned, who we hoped would redeem Israel, but now He is dead, so He couldn't have been God's son after all. He was mistaken, our beloved leader. We thought He was all powerful, but they were able to kill him. Do you remember? He healed ten, 5,000, and healed the 10 lepers, and how wonderfully He talked to us, and now He's dead, and there is no hope left, no hope. This was on Saturday, black Saturday, following the Crucifixion.

PLAN OF LIFE

Then came Sunday morning, with every cloud rolled away, and a bright sun pouring down from a gloriously blue sky. And there He was, talking to them and walking with them—more radiant, more beautiful than ever. For 40 glorious days and then their friend and teacher explaining to them the whole plan of life. He told them He must leave them, but He was going to send them a new spirit who would guide them into all truth.

No one need ever labor and sweat and argue to prove that the Resurrection was real. What happened to the disciples is all the proof that anyone can need. They saw something that Sunday morning which changed them. From selfish, self-assertive, doubting men, jockeying for position, weak in performance and cold in heart, they became great flaming evangelists with inspired words on their tongue, and afraid of nothing. They entered into and possessed the Kingdom of God in all its beauty and power, all its dangers and suffering. They signed on that day, knowing all and fearing nothing!

GREAT VISION

Now, that great vision, is the good news which came to man on the first Easter.

Volumes have been written about it; it has furnished the inspiration for the greatest music we all think about it, and most of us believe it. Many have seen how it works, but to the world at large, this great plan of life, this remedy, this solution of all life's difficulties, is one of the frozen assets of the human family.

Why, you ask, would anyone refuse it who once experienced its thrill, its satisfactions. Why did it not sweep the country in a great rising tide? And the answer can only be that the conditions of discipleship, although they are very clear, are not easy, and people are fond of ease.

In these 1900 years Christian people could have saved the world for peace and brought prosperity and happiness to everyone, for the idea is dynamic if given a chance. Dynamic and contagious.

SOUNDS VERY GOOD

At the time of the awakening of Japan at the beginning of this century, a group of young men was sent to a so-called Christian country to study Christianity. When they went home they said: "Christianity sounds very good when we listened to the ministers, but the people do not believe in it—they would rather play games than go to church, and it makes no difference in their lives. Many people are hungry, and some have great wealth, and in factories and coal mines there is much trouble. Clever people make what they call wirecracks about electricity and ministers, and one very sacred hymn is used to advertise patent medicine—all very funny. No, it's no better than our own."

We have to admit we have lost many chances. Some say they are all gone, but no one can set the bounds of God's mercy. Voltaire once said that in a hundred years there would be no Bibles in existence. Now, in that very spot, where the prediction was made, there is a Bible house and the Bible is still the best selling book in the world.

PRAY FOR HELP

I notice that the Prime Minister of Australia, in asking his people to pray for help, asked them also to pray for guidance. And something is bound to happen when people honestly look for the guidance of God, really exposing their minds to the power of the Spirit.

Many good people I know at this time are worried about Russia and the denial of religion there. Is it really true, they ask, that people can live without religion? Not only live, but do well. Russia has certainly adopted at least parts of social programs of Christianity while denying its name. They believe in brotherhood, in equality, and the sharing of the world's goods, and it may be that they are going to lead the whole world in a better way of life than we have known, and then they will do some learning, too. They will learn that man cannot live by bread alone. There is a parable in the New Testament about a man who had two sons, whom he commanded to do a certain piece of work. One would, and forgot. The other said he would not, but afterwards did.

SWEET MEMORIES

Sunday has sweet memories for all of us. There is something about the springtime which lifts our hearts. The steaming fields, the call of the birds, the awakened earth, the thought of seeding and planting, the many evidences of life's renewal. It is a tender and happy time with family gatherings and long tables set for pleasant meals in this land of plenty.

Let us this Easter, as the bells ring out, pledge ourselves that all our spiritual impulses will be given a human direction. The supreme test of all religion is its effect on human life. So let us look again at the peace and beauty around us here in Canada and ask ourselves, in deep humility:

"Who has given me this sweet, And given my brother dust to eat?"

FOUR SOLDIERS BROUGHT IN TO HOSPITAL

U.S. Army Engineers Win Race Against Spring Thaws

City Aviator Tells Of Thrills When Torpedo Crashes Enemy Ship

Thrill of seeing an enemy ship disintegrate after a torpedo crashed through its bulkheads from a swift Beaufort torpedo bomber, skimming the waves of the North Sea, was described Saturday by a former member of the Edmonton city police department, Blake MacKenzie, whose parents live at 10925 83 street.

Flt. Sgt. Observer MacKenzie, as he is now known, was a member of the R.C.A.F. and was loaned to the R.A.F., with which he served from the time he went overseas in November, 1940, until his return to Canada last November. He is now an instructor with an R.C.A.F. station on the Pacific coast.

"Man for man and plane for plane the Royal Air Force is far, far superior to the German Luftwaffe, make no mistake about that," Flt. Sgt. MacKenzie stated.

HE WAS THERE

The former Edmonton detective clerk accountant was in London in the early spring of 1941 when the Germans staged the most destructive raid of the war on London. It was also the last big raid on the British capital. "It wasn't nice," was the way he described the experience.

He said that the R.A.F. Beaufort torpedo bomber is the most modern type of torpedo-carrying plane. It is very fast and carries a crew of four. There is the pilot, the observer, wireless operator and air gunner.

Occasionally the machines are used solely for bombing operations.

"We were disappointed at not being called for the operations against the Bismarck, but they were not in our area. I have been, however, in several successful attacks against enemy surface craft," he said.

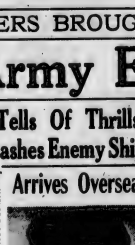

MET CITY MEN

Flt. Sgt. MacKenzie said he often met Edmonton boys in London. He did not, however, see PO. George Jackson, former Edmonton police constable, who has been missing for several months. PO. Jackson is understood to have been flying a night fighter just before his disappearance, following a raid over the French coast with new types of aircraft.

Flt. Sergt. MacKenzie joined the R.C.A.F. here in April of 1940.

"The morale of the boys in the R.A.F. is very, very high. You can safely say we are now well ahead of the German air force in equipment and quality of personnel," concluded the former police department worker.

Arrives Overseas

LAC. W. M. Caldwell, R. C. A. F., word of whose arrival overseas has been received by his wife, who with their two children, Carol and Keith, resides at 9318 109 avenue. LAC. Caldwell, who is 27 years old, was born in this city. He enlisted in May, 1941, as a radio technician and was trained at the University courses in this city and Toronto. He was graduated from the Clinton, Ont., radio school in February last. He was educated at this city's Technical and Victoria high schools. Prior to enlisting, he was employed at the Edmonton post office. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Caldwell, reside at 10182 89 street.

Acting as honorary pallbearers will be Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., area commandant; Lt.-Col. A. H. Elliott, Lt.-Col. H. B. Jamieson, Lt.-Col. Louis Scott, D.C.M., Lt.-Col. L. C. Harris, V.D., Lt.-Col. W. L. Oliver, M.C., Lt.-Col. Walter Hale, M.C., and Maj. G. D. K. Kinnahd.

Active pallbearers, members of the South Edmonton Bn., V.V.R., will be Messrs. Hagen, Paszackerley, Traves, Kynnerasley, Sandilands and Jones.

Burial will be in the soldiers' plot of the Edmonton cemetery.

Minor Accident Sole Occurrence

City auto operators apparently made Good Friday a day of exceptionally good behavior, as only one very minor traffic accident was reported from 10 p.m. Thursday till 10 a.m. Saturday.

The minor accident occurred in front of the Memorial hall when two cars scraped bumpers with practically no damage reported.

The other police departments reported a very quiet day on Friday also. Several complaints, all of a minor nature, were received by Chief Constable A. G. Shute. That was all that the department had to show in the way of "crime" during Good Friday.

Miner Severely Injured In Crash

Severely crushed by about a ton of debris, Joseph Krahel, miner at the Acme mines, was admitted to the Royal Alexandra hospital Friday afternoon, in a critical condition. Acme mines are situated west of Ellerslie, about seven miles south of Edmonton.

Krahel suffered multiple fractures when he was trapped under a fall of rock and broken timbers as the roof of his working "room" collapsed.

Fellow miners had considerable difficulty extricating the injured man. He was rushed to hospital in an unconscious condition by Smith's ambulance.

The patient is under the care of Dr. Joseph Megas who reported that Krahel is suffering from a crushed chest, a skull fracture, a broken leg and numerous body abrasions. His condition is critical.

Corps Troops Rush All Alaska Road Equipment Safely In To Ft. Nelson

United States Army Engineer Corps troops, assigned to the construction of the Alaska highway have triumphed in their hectic race against the spring thaws and now have every piece of equipment safely on the opposite end of the "bad stretch" between Fort St. John and Fort Nelson.

This was the cheering word brought to Edmonton from the Alaska Highway front Friday by Capt. C. S. Slotis, United States Medical Corps officer, who is physician and surgeon in charge of all troops working on the highway.

Capt. Slotis, who was with the first troops who went north through Edmonton some weeks ago, returned here with four hospital cases in a United States Army Air Corps Douglas transport plane. The plane was piloted by Capt. Fred Sievers, Sgt. L. J. Russel of the U. S. Engineer Corps assisted Capt. Slotis in bringing out the four soldiers who required hospitalization.

FROST BITES

One soldier was suffering from an acute attack of arthritis. Three others incurred frost bites during a brief attack of sub-zero weather. All four were taken to the University Hospital.

Canadian Army Train Coming Here

Lacombe has been included in the itinerary of Alberta centres to be visited by the Canadian Army Train. The train will be in Edmonton on April 12 and 13.

Decision to make a halt at Lacombe has necessitated a slight change of time of showing of the train at other points.

Under the new schedule the train will be on display at Wetaskiwin on Monday, April 13, between 2:45 and 3:45 p.m. and in Lacombe from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. of the same date.

The Edmonton convention is one of a network being held throughout the Dominion Saturday, other meetings being in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. J. S. McLean, president of the company, will broadcast a message to all meetings from Toronto.

Temperature Drop Impedes Parade

With a drop in temperature Saturday morning, indications are that the usual Easter parade of new fashions down Edmonton's main streets will be curtailed considerably on Sunday.

Special church services, however, will be held this year with probably more symbolic solemnity than in previous years. Every house of worship in the city will participate in the year's greatest religious festival, and weeks of rehearsal by choirs and soloists will be climaxed during the Easter services Sunday.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

The Inquiring Reporter sought opinion on whether Germany was losing the initiative in the war?

THE ANSWERS

GERALD O'CONNOR, K.C., barrister: Hitler still retains the advantage of being able to launch attacks in three directions, north, south and west. His favourite technique of surprise has been restricted in the east. The Russian steamroller has pegged the vast percentage of German fighting strength on Russian soil. The huge losses in war materials and men suffered by Germany during the long campaign in Russia have reduced Nazi initiative and the element of surprise while all the time the striking power of the Allies is increasing by leaps and bounds.

M. B. "RED" McCOLL, insurance salesman: The Allies have acquired the power of initiative and surprise over a vast territory. The recent commando raid on St. Nazaire conveys a warning to Hitler that he cannot afford to reduce his garrisons in Norway, in the Low Countries and in France. The constant threat of a British invasion of the continent ensures that large bodies of German troops, airplanes and military equipment cannot be diverted elsewhere. Hitler does not know where a British invasion may be launched. He must be ready for any such emergency, in any quarter, and this immobilizes a great number of fighting men.

FRED THOMPSON, storekeeper: Undoubtedly the initiative is passing from the Germans, and as the strength of the Allies increases, German troubles grow in conquered countries. There are not many Vichy nests in Europe. The conquered peoples are ready to strike at the Nazi overlords at the first favorable opportunity.

U. Of A. Students' Union Shows $3,182.75 Surplus

Students at the University of Alberta through their union council will purchase $1,500 worth of Dominion of Canada bonds, it was decided at the final 1941-42 council meeting held Friday night in the Senate chambers. Motion to purchase the government securities came following presentation of the financial statement showing a surplus for the year of $3,182.75.

Dr. Robert Newton, acting president of the U. of A., and honorary president of the Students' Union, officially turned over the symbol of office from retiring President Bob MacBeth, of Edmonton, to Lloyd C. Girbdale of Olds, newly elected student chief, at the meeting.

Retiring council, with the help of AC2. Don McCormick, of Lacombe, treasurer of the union for the past year, and now enlisted with the R.C.A.F., also voted $100 to aid students at Mount Allison University, which was recently partially destroyed by fire. A further $200 amount was set aside for the U. of A. Christmas war contact system, and $25 was alloted to the university's "prisoner of war" contact plan.

Council went on record, as representatives of the general student body, as being entirely satisfied with the co-operation and help received from Dr. Newton, acting university president, during the past term.

Incoming council, headed by Mr. Grisdale, will meet following final examinations to make 1942-43 appointments in the union set-up, and complete plans for student activity during the next year.

Getting Around

with

Jack DeLong

The Alaska Highway has put Alaska in the news to a greater extent than that huge territory has ever been in the past.

Preliminary estimate of the Canadian Government fixes the total cost of the highway at $35,000,000. And that estimate of the cost of the road brings to mind some interesting facts about Alaska that Canadians are possibly not generally familiar with.

Alaska cost the United States originally just $7,200,000. That's the sum Congress decided to pay the Imperial Government of Russia for the big slice of northern territory on March 30, 1867.

And according to the records the Americans closed the deal in a sort of "well! just take the place off our hands" attitude. They weren't at all anxious to get Alaska at the time.

The territory is $90.884 square

YOUR EYES
By J. E. THOMAS, Optometrist

How many times have you heard people ask, "Why do so many people wear glasses today?" The real source of wonder is not that so many people wear glasses, but that so many manage to do without them.

Just think how much the eyes are asked to do today. Close print in newspapers and magazines to read, columns of figures to scan, flashing electric lights to endure, movies to watch. It's really amazing the eyes continue to function as well as they do. So it's easy to understand that glasses nowadays are not merely worn to see better, but to relieve the eyes from strain that comes from constant use.

Here's another aspect about glasses. They may help to preserve the youthful appearance. Glasses may relieve that characteristic anxious, tired, drawn look which often comes from eyestrain. Is it any wonder then, that so many young people, especially young women, turn to glasses today? They are appropriate for every place and occasion.

Don't take your eyes for granted. Have them examined at regular intervals.

Milk-For-Britain Auction Sale

* * * * * * * *

Picture Of King Will Be Feature

* * * * * * * *

To Be Held Latter Part Of May

City auctioneers in conjunction with the Edmonton Kinsmen Club will hold their second annual auction sale on the Market Square in the latter part of May in aid of the Milk-For-Britain Fund, Arthur Cload, auctioneer, announced Saturday.

In May last year, $3,600 was raised for the fund through the auction sale. This amount was regarded as satisfactory in view of the inclement weather that prevailed on May 23. This year, with the need for funds even more urgent, it is hoped that the weather and warm-hearted citizens will co-operate to boost proceeds over last year's total.

PICTURE OF KING

One of the featured articles to be offered at the 1942 sale is an excellent picture of His Majesty donated by a local firm. In addition to this, of course, will be several pictures of Her Majesty. "We wouldn't forget her for the world," said Mr. Cload.

There will also be a thousand-and-one other articles donated by citizens for sale at the auction, and persons having anything of value which they want to contribute to the cause are requested to contact one of the city auctioneers.

The committee in charge has obtained an autographed picture of Ian Hunter, popular English actor of Hollywood, who was here earlier in the month in connection with the Victory Loan drive. It is expected that Mr. Hunter will forward other autographed pictures to be sold at the auction.

HAND MUSIC

One or more regimental bands will provide music at the sale so that citizens will be assured of entertainment during the auction.

Auctioneers who will assist include Mr. Cload, Charles Munton, Clyde Smith, Don Ball, W. G. Smith, Frank Burns, Fred Appleby and Earl Lanyon.

Exact date of the sale will be announced later.

No expenses will be incurred for the sale, time and other services being donated to the cause.

RUFFLES ADD CHARM AND COLOR TO SPRING WARDROBE . . .

Memo for right now: a soft ruffle to swath the neck and swish up a wardrobe for spring. These have a touch of color too, and there's your answer to enhancing a basic dress of vibrant hue which you thought mightn't be so versatile as black. The "innocent" collar for a V-neck, right, is made of mousseline de soie, with a band of American garland embroidery in pastel pink, blue, and maize. The round-necked bib of ruffled net, left, also has an inset floral decoration, bordering the close-tucked "V" in winsome profusion.

R.C.A.F. Women Prove Their Worth At East Service Flying School

By OWEN SHANNON

ST. HUBERT, Que., April 4. — (CP)—Canadian men and women are working together, shoulder to shoulder, and the experience at No. 13 Service Training Flying School of the Royal Canadian Air Force proves that the work is being done well.

Close to 200 members of the R.C.A.F., Women's Division, are posted to duty at the St. Hubert Field, and are doing work similar to that of the regular force.

Members of the Montreal press Thursday were taken on a tour of the school and saw the various jobs being performed by the women.

In the fabric division, repairs are made to airplane wings, the women making patches and sewing on new sections and even doing the "dope-ing." Women have also replaced men in the motor transport division. Many of the girls have been posted to the equipment depot as clerks.

In the stores division, where clothing and similar equipment are handled, the girls have also moved in in large numbers.

Von Papen Returns From Berlin Visit

BERLIN (from German broadcast), April 4.—(AP) — Dispatches from Sofia said Ambassador Franz Von Papen returned to Ankara today by plane from Berlin. The Bulgarian telegraph agency quoted him as saying "German-Turkish relations are excellent and will remain so forever . . . I am returning from Germany greatly satisfied."

School Children Do Their Bit For Red Cross

GRADE two children at King Edward School are certainly doing their bit in this war. In grade two a child is seven years old. These busy children, of seven years, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Argue, saved pennies for errands, nickels that might have meant ice cream, and bought wool. They have handed in nine large afghans for the Red Cross Society. Boys and girls both did the knitting. The afghans were a triumph, both in workmanship, and in the spirit of service for this beloved Empire.

In Manville, too, one hears of the children serving their country. The boys in room two knitted an afghan which the girls carefully put together.

FROM ALBERTA POINTS

The outposts of Alberta are drawn closely together by the bonds of service in the Red Cross Society. To the Edmonton depot this week came four parcels, flown in by airplane from Fort Smith, and containing knitting for the services and children's garments. Wainwright went over the top with the largest individual branch contribution of socks, 16 pairs. In the shipment, as well, were 18 sweaters, 18 scarfs, layettes, baby gowns, and a large number of quilts.

Tofield sent in a shipment of boys' tailored suits. Leduc presented a large shipment of hospital eiderdown bed jackets.

In the Bonnyville branch are workers who are Swedish, Norwegian, Danish, Ukrainian, Russian, English, Irish, Scots, Welsh and one Canadian-born German.

319 PAIRS OF SOCKS

In Edmonton two elderly women, both over seventy, have made 319 pairs of socks since the spring of 1940. "From early years I planned the service to the Red Cross Society mounts triumphantly its pledge of loyal citizenship."

Corregidor Is Revealed 'No Woman's Land'

By MURLIN SPENCER

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4—(AP) Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, first woman to return to the United States from Corregidor since the Japanese struck, described that stout island fortress as a man's land where women soon learn to shift for themselves.

It is a land where fighting men, their spirit "simply magnificent," think only of the grim, apparent planes that harass them; where women feel keenly that they are extraneous.

It is a land where men have eyes on the sky and sea for help they "know is coming."

HIGH COMMISSIONER'S WIFE

Mrs. Sayre, a tall, brown-haired woman with a ready smile, is the wife of the United States high commissioner to the Philippines.

Aside from pictures of his wife, Mrs. Sayre was one of less than a dozen women who fled Manila to Corregidor. Another was Mrs. Douglas MacArthur. From the first day on the fort they were subjected to incessant bombings and their shellings.

When one reporter commented that the people seemed to have stood the incessant bombings well, she replied, "there is some sort of inner strength that comes to people you don't realize you have."

Commissioner Sayre reached here earlier and now is in Washington.

Wife Of Govt. Minister Follows Husband Into East War Zone

By RUTH COWAN

WASHINGTON, April 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Richard G. Casey, the attractive wife of Britain's new minister of state for the Middle East, stood ready tonight to abide by the toughest decision of her life.

The question that this slim Australian artist had to decide was: Should she go with her husband by plane into a war zone to help him at his new post in Cairo?

Or should she stay in the comparative comfort of Washington with their two children, Jane, 13, and Donn, 10, whom the Caseys decided to leave here for the time being?

HUBBY WINS

The husband and the job to be done won. Mrs. Casey was saying goodbye today to the many friends she has made since the Caseys arrived two years ago when he took up his duties as Australia's first minister to the United States.

GIFT TO AUSTRALIA

A licensed airplane pilot, Mrs. Casey confided she had also been out to a nearby airfield to say goodbye to her private plane. "To me it isn't just a machine," she said. Her four-passenger cabin plane will be sent to Australia as a gift to do its bit in the war.

Mrs. Casey is all packed for her long trip—but that was no job. All the luggage she can take is 15 pounds. This meant careful packing of essentials—and they skimmed down to a tooth brush, two pairs of stockings, an extra lipstick, changes of underclothes and night gowns, a dress, a sweater, a comb and brush.

She is hoping, though to be able to take her typewriter for she plans to keep a record of the adventure ahead.

Civil Service Eager Accept Women

By PATRICIA CONNOLLEY

OTTAWA, April 4.—(CP)—Compared to pre-war years it's a cinch these days to get into the civil service.

This point has been reached where the civil service commission is combing Canada for qualified office staff and the call is for women —any women, married or single, who know typing and shorthand.

Only 10 per cent of the stenographic crop used to be absorbed by the civil service but the drain of war on the Dominion's labor supply has changed the picture.

Not only has the civil service commission amended its regulations since the war began to provide for employment of married women but it recently arranged to allow maternity leave to them.

"The married women are doing a good job for us," one official said today. "In fact, some of those who have come back to typing and shorthand after years away from it are doing a better job than the younger workers—perhaps because they are more stable."

ALLOWED TO MARRY

Stenographers and typists in the service now are allowed to marry and hold their positions in a temporary status. Throughout Canada the commission now employs approximately 20,000 women, and of these several hundred are married.

Illustrating the demand for office workers, the official said that during February 312 typists and stenographers were taken on by the commission outside Ottawa, and 332 were taken on at Ottawa.

Basic Training School Opened In Ottawa For Air Force Women

OTTAWA, April 4.—(CP)—Approximately 90 officers, N.C.O.'s and other ranks of the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division) were hard at work here Friday preparing for the opening Saturday of the new "C.W.A.A.F." basic training centre at Rockcliffe Air Station.

The basic training school includes 13 fireproof, red-roofed buildings. Officer commanding the school, which will provide preliminary training for recruits, is Flight Officer K Walker of Montreal, with Flight Lieut. Cross of Toronto as adjutant.

The basic training course will take four weeks and recruits will be brought in at an approximate rate of 90 per week. Following their basic training course here recruits will be posted for training in trades to the R.C.A.F. (Women's Division) schools at Havergal College, Toronto, or St. Thomas, Ont.

Newspaperwomen toured the new school yesterday with Flight Officer Walker and talked with some of the "CWAAFS."

TIFFIN TWINS

Margaret and Madeline Tiffin of Edmonton, identical twins, were busy on a mopping up job in the equipment building, from which clothes will be issued to all recruits taking the course. Daughters of Sgt. Elmer Tiffin, Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, stationed at Red Deer, Alta., they are classified as "general duties."

Margaret, who spoke for the red-haired twins, said she was "very happy" in the air force. Twenty-five minutes older than her sister, Margaret told reporters "people can't tell us apart and we hope to have a lot of fun getting people mixed up."

Also at work in the equipment building was Mrs. D. Broomfield, the former Isobel Cook, Toronto portrait painter. Clad in overalls, Mrs. Broomfield told reporters she is classified as an equipment assistant.

Canadian Press Writer Joins Army Corps

OTTAWA, April 4—(CP)—Patricia Connolley of Ottawa left the Ottawa bureau of the Canadian Press today to join the Canadian Women's Army Corps as officer in charge of publicity for the Corps.

Senior Commander Joan Kennedy, of Victoria, officer administering the Corps, said Miss Connolley was the first newspaperwoman in Canada to join the C.W.A.C.

Miss Connolley, who is 28, assumed her duties at headquarters here with the rank of second subaltern.

Born in Woodstock, Ont., she started in newspaper work in 1934. She began with the London Free Press and a few months later went to the Windsor Star. After 2½ years with that newspaper, she went to New York, where she wrote style copy for a fashion designer for a year.

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Subsequently Miss Connolley worked on the Ottawa Journal for 2½ years. Six months ago she became attached to the Ottawa Bureau of the Canadian Press, as a staff writer specializing in women's activities.

Regular Easter Preaching Service will be conducted at Robertson United church by W. G. Wilson, M.A., D.D., at 11 a.m., his subject being, "If It Had Not Been So." Special Easter music will be rendered by both Senior and Junior Choirs.

The evening service at 7:30 p.m. will be largely one of praise, at which the Oratorio, "The Last Judgment," will be rendered by a full choir. "This oratorio, composed by Louis Spohr, is looked upon as one of the most filling and beautiful for the Easter Season. Though never given in Robertson church before, it is well known by music lovers on the continent. There are many very beautiful parts, but the quartet, 'Blest are the Departed' may possibly be best known, and has brought comfort to multitudes of sorrowing people," the minister said.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REVEREND DANIEL YOUNG, B.A.
Minister, First Baptist Church
President of The Edmonton Ministerial Association.

"The Easter Day"

"Behold I am Alive for evermore." —Revelation 1:18.

EASTER is more than a date in the calendar. Something happened on the first Easter day which has changed the color of human life, and altered the current of the world's history. How greatly it affected the first disciples is clear to anyone who reads the story of the Resurrection in the Gospels. Their world had been changed. Broken dreams were suddenly turned into victorious hopes. They hastened from one place to another with an eagerness to tell their friends what had happened.

"Christ is alive," they said to one another, "we have seen Him with our own eyes."

The excitement of the first Easter day was not to be short-lived. They had grasped the significance of what had happened, and the living Christ became the central fact of their faith. Many years had passed before St. John the Divine had a vision of One who said: "Behold I am alive for evermore." The first chapter of the Book of the Revelation reminds us that the Church was continuing to live in the atmosphere of the Easter Day. They had not forgotten, and they would never forget, that Christ was alive. St. John's message came to Christians in that century who were facing difficulty and persecution, and needed the courage which the living and ever-present Christ could bring.

What does Easter mean to us now? Tomorrow we shall witness great crowds in every place of public worship, and we shall hear again the message of the first Easter morning. Can that word of assurance that Christ is alive bring to us the same comfort, courage and hope in our darkened world? Is this faith of ours not the pledge of ultimate deliverance? When the evil powers have done their worst, let us remember that the makers of war, the men of violence, the brutal masters of many nations, will turn to dust, but Christ is alive forevermore, and His day is coming soon! "Behold, I come quickly."

AN URGENT WORK when men and women, especially those on active service, so sorely need the comfort and joy which the Holy Scriptures alone convey.

Cards of Thanks 6

As a service to readers the Edmonton Bulletin has prepared a booklet of correct wordings for "Cards of Thanks." It is free upon request. Call, write or phone.

Mrs. George Wells and family wish to thank their many friends for kindness and sympathy extended to them during their recent bereavement, also for the beautiful floral tributes received, they especially wish to thank the Sussex Fellowship, The Army and Navy Veterans' Association and the Staff of the Royal Alexandra Hospital.

Mrs. John Webster and family wish to thank their many friends and neighbors, also Dr. Kaufman for the acts of kindness during the lengthy illness of their beloved husband and father, Mr. John (Doc) Webster; also for their sympathy and many beautiful floral tributes during their sad bereavement.

In Memoriam 7

To assist readers in preparing "In Memoriam" notices, the Edmonton Bulletin has prepared a booklet of some very appropriate verses. It is free upon request. Call, write or phone for a copy.

In loving memory of our beloved son, Paul James Sutherland, who passed away April 5, 1940, aged 19 years.

"Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast,
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again."

—Ever missed by Parents, Sisters and Brothers.

U.S. Troops Laud Red Cross Hut

United States troops working on the Alaska highway are extremely grateful to the women of Fort St. John for the opening of a Red Cross Hut for the use of the soldiers quartered in that town.

A U.S. magazine writer who returned from the north recently stated the hut, which is in an old store building, has been furnished with donated chairs, tables and writing desks.

But the most welcome utility of all is a home-made shower bath. Previously the men had been able to get baths only at the town hospital where a charge was made for each bath.

A coffee and doughnut bar is also operated in the Red Cross hut.

Motorist, 72, Arrested After Vehicle Crash

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving an auto while intoxicated, Albinus J. Froehler, 9252 110A avenue, was sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment when he appeared Saturday before Police Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, K.C.

Magistrate Howe handled the light docket on Saturday in place of Police Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., who is out of town for the Easter recess.

The other two cases on the docket were a vagrancy charge which was adjourned till next week and the only celebrant picked up during Good Friday, who was fined the usual $20 and costs or 30 days.

ARRESTED AFTER CRASH

Froehler was arrested Thursday night after he was involved in an accident at the corner of 95 street and 111 avenue. While attempting to negotiate the turn off 95 street, with the left front door of his car open, he swung out so far to the left that a car driven by Stanley Kusick was sandwiched between Froehler's car and a bus standing at the curb.

In an effort to avoid the bus, Kusick struck the swinging door of Froehler's car, causing slight damage to both vehicles. Froehler failed to stop, and was overhauled by Kusick some distance down 111 avenue.

Police were called and Froehler was arrested. He is 72 years old and father of 14 children.

Captured German Troops In Spring Poetry Offensive

LONDON, April 4. — (BUP) — Radio Moscow said today that papers taken from killed or captured German troops showed that they had burst into a spring poetry offensive, and gave the following example:

When in future, at our ease,
We can say just what we please;
When Gestapo men on bail
Once again are back in jail;
When the jury trying Hitler
Has retired and he feels littler,
Then in Berlin peace will reign
And we'll smile and sing again.

Woman Dies From Wound Received In Gun Battle

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., April 4—(AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Wenstrom, widowed in a blazing gun duel between two retired Army majors, died Friday of a bullet wound suffered as an innocent bystander.

Her husband, Maj. William H. Wenstrom, 45, was killed Thursday night in the point blank exchange of shots with Maj. Buell Hammett, 44. He was shot six times with a .45-calibre automatic pistol.

The gunplay, Police Chief Fred Hoelscher said, grew out of a quarrel over a Santa Barbara home guard unit.

Mrs. Wenstrom, mother of two children, suffered a head wound from which she failed to regain consciousness.

Railman Honored On Retirement

VANCOUVER, April 4 — Shop colleagues of Thomas E. Higgins recently presented him with an engraved barometer and a walking stick on the occasion of his retirement after 38 years with the C.P.R.'s car department in western Canada.

He joined at Winnipeg May 16, 1904, and for 19 years was at Fort William where he rose to the post of car foreman, coming to Vancouver January 1, 1932, to become general car foreman.

His place here is being taken by Ernest Martin, lately general car foreman at Moose Jaw. Mr. Martin, who started with the railway in 1908, worked on the British Columbia district at Eholt and later went to the prairies where he worked as carman and inspector. He later was car foreman successively at Expanse, Outlook, Wynard, Swift Current and Brandon before going to Moose Jaw as general car foreman in July, 1936.

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK REPORT

Report from the Edmonton stockyards for the week ending April 4:

Receipts:	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
Today	128	...	337	8
Week	1625	114	1342	86

There has been good action on the cattle market throughout the week, with prices holding steady on all classes. A few choice light steers sold at $10, while the bulk of good to choice sold from $9 to $9½, best heavies realized $9¾. Choice fed calves topped at $10. The bulk of good to choice heifers traded from $8½ to $9, with a few strictly choice lights topping $9½. Cows held firm, the bulk of good light cows sold from $6½ to $7¾, with a few light heifery kinds topping $8. Best weighty bulls sold for $7¾.

Hogs steady throughout, with basic for shipment $14¼, locals and plants $13¾ to $13.85. B 2 hogs less than 130 lbs. discounted $2½ each. B 3 hogs are at basic price. Sows, live weight, on stockyards, $7½ to $8.

Livestock Producers: Much of the bruising of livestock can be prevented when shipping. See that your trucker or shipper uses plenty of bedding, and, in cold weather has his truck or railway car properly slatted to prevent cold drafts. The better condition they arrive in at the market the larger your returns.

Lambs steady; good to choice handy weights $10 to $11. No old sheep on offer.

ANNUAL SPRING SHOW

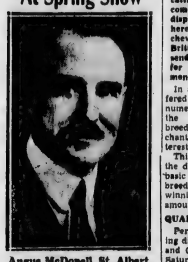

And Bull Sale at the Arena, April 6, 7, 8 and 9th

Best Alberta Livestock Will Contest Honors Annual Competitions

The cream of Alberta's livestock will compete against strong outside competition in the many horse and cattle classes at the annual spring livestock show sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association. The show opens on Monday and will continue through to Thursday, concluding on that day with the annual sale of purebred bulls.

At Spring Show

Angus McDonell, St. Albert, well-known Shorthorn breeder, who will represent the Alberta Provincial Cattle Breeders' Association at the annual purebred bull sale held in conjunction with the Edmonton Exhibition Association's spring livestock show.

Entries have been received from the leading Alberta horse and cattle breeders, and many newcomers to the show ring will be displaying their purebred stock here for the first time. Saskatchewan, Manitoba and a few British Columbia breeders are sending the best in their barns for a shot at the $3,500 prize money offered by the association.

In addition to the cash prizes offered by the association there are numerous special prizes donated by the different horse and cattle breeders' associations, by city merchants, industrialists and firms interested in the livestock industry.

This year more than ever since the days of the last great war, the basic value of livestock and good breeding methods, as a weapon in winning the war, will be given paramount importance at the show.

QUALITY HIGHER

Percy W. Abbott, K.C., managing director of the exhibition board, and C. E. Wilson, president, stated Saturday that the quality of the entries in 1942 is higher than ever in the past, and that the fine animals to be exhibited will enhance further the splendid reputation already enjoyed by the livestock industry in Alberta.

The exhibition association is carrying on the show this year despite the withdrawal of the usual Dominion grants, and are doing so at the request of Dominion department of agriculture officials. The Alberta government and the various breeder associations and other groups are continuing their usual support.

Judging will start on Tuesday in the new sale and judging ring completed recently. An outstanding event on the show calendar is the children's calf feeding competition.

PRIME IMPORTANCE

This competition is deemed of prime importance for the interest it stimulates among future farmers in the proper care and feeding of stock. Many of the past exhibitors in this event are now recognized as the leaders of cattle men of the province.

This event is for boys and girls who have certified that they alone and unaided have taken care of the feeding of their exhibits since January 1.

Special trophies, in addition to substantial cash prizes are awarded in the different feeding competitions. The Edmonton Exhibition Challenge trophy is awarded to the contestant whose steer stands highest in the beef calf contest; and a trophy also donated by the association is given to the contestant whose heifer stands highest in this class. The Prince of Wales championship trophy will be awarded to the exhibitor of the best calf in the junior department, and a miniature of the trophy presented to the winner.

Past winners of these trophies are: Edmonton Exhibition Challenge Trophy—For the steer standing highest in the Beef Calf Contests: Won in 1936 by Sidney Morris, Edmonton; won in 1937 by George Blackstock, Edmonton; won in 1938 by Babe Rickard, Millet; won in 1939 by Laura Loppenbush, Tofield; won in 1940 by Melvin Ash, Edmonton; won in 1941 by Doris Kobitsuch, Hardisty.

Another feature of this show is the competition in the Edmonton Stock Yard District classes. For years the Edmonton Stock Yards Ltd. has donated a special prize of $100, the money to be divided into special district prizes for the best beef calf in the junior department section. For the purpose of the competition Northern Alberta has been divided into the following zones:

District No. 1—Including all territory within a circle (the approximate central point of which is Edmonton), and of which circle the following towns are the boundary, or the contestant's shipping points or post office: Fort Saskatchewan, Gibbons, Bon Accord, Mcinville, Villeneuve, Spruce Grove, Eleralie, Bremner.

District No. 2—Farms in district tributary to the E.D. & B.C. Railway and Dunvegan Valley Railway, and shipped from stations on the E.D. & B.C. Railway south of McLennan and from all stations on the Pembina Valley Railroad.

District No. 3—All points on the E.D. & B.C. beyond and including McLennan, in Alberta.

District No. 4—Points on the E.D. & B.C. Railway in British Columbia.

District No. 5—A. & G.W. Railway.

District No. 6—Canadian National Railway (all points west to Alberta boundary and including Whitecourt branch).

District No. 7—Canadian National Railway, Athabasca branch.

District No. 8—Canadian National Railway, St. Paul branch.

District No. 9—Canadian National Railway line east to Lloydminster, Alberta boundary.

District No. 10—Canadian National Railway, all other lines south, east and west in Alberta.

District No. 11—C.P.R. Edmonton-Calgary branch, and all other branches in Alberta except main line from Wetaskiwin east to Alberta boundary. (Calves shipped from Wetaskiwin included in this district).

District No. 12—C.P.R. main line, Wetaskiwin to Alberta boundary (exclusive of calves shipped from Wetaskiwin).

District No. 13—All points on Willingdon line (exclusive of calves shipped from Lloydminster.

Note—Where one or more competitors in one family or living on one farm make entry, they must register from the same district.

In every case, the competitor must register from the district in where he belongs.

Those living in District No. 1 may not enter in any other district, whether calves are shipped in or delivered in any other way.

In shipments by other than railroad the exhibits must be entered in the district from which they would ship if shipped by railroad.

In case of disputes as to the district in which a competitor belongs, the Edmonton Stock Yards, Limited, reserves the right to make the decision, which will be final.

Seventy Bulls To Be Offered Annual Auction

Seventy of the finest purebred bulls ever shown in Edmonton's annual spring show will be auctioned off here Thursday, April 9, at the 31st annual auction sale and show of purebred bulls staged in connection with the Edmonton Exhibition Association's spring livestock show.

The sale is being conducted jointly by the Exhibition Association, and the Alberta Provincial Cattle Breeders' Association.

JUDGING THURSDAY

Bulls entered in the sale will be judged on Thursday at 8:30 a.m., with the sale scheduled for 1:30 p.m. As in recent years, breeders anxious to improve their foundation stock will be in attendance and intimation has been received by officials of the Exhibition Association that the number of prospective buyers this year will be greater than ever.

During recent years a feature of the bull sale has been the number of new Canadians purchasing foundation stock. Mr. Abbott stated, and enquiries received this year would indicate that many more of these settlers are planning to improve their livestock herds.

Army of Men and Machines Slashing Road to Nome Through Wilderness
Canada and U.S. United in 1,200-Mile Drive to Great Alaskan Base

Pte. D. E. Neff, of Detroit, shows where he would like to use his axe. U.S. army engineers keep their sense of humor as they blaze trail through 1,200 miles of bleak Canadian wilderness to build vital military highway from the border to Alaska.

Trains rush trucks and road-making machinery to the end of steel at Dawson Creek. Below, tons of supplies of all kinds are unloaded. Soldiers got laugh when they found complete quota of Christmas tree decorations, presumably for next winter.

Leon Arfa, Chicago, gives his autograph to Frances Berg, of Beaver Lodge, Alta. People of tiny northern towns welcome visitors, like their breezy informality.

Speed is first consideration. Canadian truckers on 36-hour run from Dawson Creek to Fort Nelson live in trucks. Drivers relieve each other every 10 hours, sleep in coffin-like boxes. Aside from trucking no civilian labor is needed on this job.

Typical of the hard-fisted, corner-cutting American engineers is Pte. Felix Murawski, of Oklahoma City. He glares cheerful defiance at stubborn bush country.

Headquarters of U.S. army in Canada is the 5 and 10-cent store in Dawson Creek. The new road runs through Edmonton, Dawson Creek, Fort St. John, Fort Nelson, Watson Lake, Whitehorse to the Alaskan boundary. Canada built airports along route.

Under expert hands bulldozers, caterpillars, graders and drag lines carve out the narrow pilot road which will later be widened and surfaced. Snow was light this year but temperatures were 30 to 50 below zero. Men live in tents, but are furnished arctic clothing. Surveyors use dog teams to take instruments into north.

Across the frozen Peace River a plank highway is laid to carry heavily-laden trucks at a wary pace of three miles an hour. After the spring thaw a stout ferry will be used. Over lesser rivers pontoon bridges will be built. Regardless of weather, natural obstacles or human failings the relentless drive presses northward.

Escape To Adventure

By Priscilla Wayne

JUDITH RANIER, who ran away from her Chicago fiance, BOB ORWOOD has become involved in a murder plot at Lost Mesa, New Mexico. Impersonating a nurse, she went to the home of CHARLES and BERTHE DIRKEY, whom she learns Berthe is trying to murder her husband, by giving him slow poison provided by her helper, DR. KARL KRUG. Berthe Dirkey believes Judy is Krug's sister, Greta, whom he sent to help her kill her wealthy husband. PETER BURKE, Charles Dirkey's nephew, likes Judy and she has just managed to get away from the Dirkey home long enough to slip over to Peter's cabin and tell him of the plot. They decide she should return to the house and stay until she can obtain some of the powder as evidence. She previously has substituted powdered sugar and the patient has been growing stronger. Meanwhile detectives report to Judy's father and Bob Orwood. They traced Judy to Santa Fe where they believe she registered as Greta Krug and left the following day and was married. The detectives lost the girl's trail at Los Angeles. Mr. Ranier and Bob decide to go to Santa Fe to take up the search. Charles Dirkey, much stronger, talks with Peter. When Berthe attempts to give him his medicine he "clumsily" spills it and refuses to have her get any more. Finally Berthe realizes Charles knows she is trying to poison him. She leaves Judy to care for him, believing he doesn't suspect her, and goes upstairs. Judy explains the entire plot to Dirkey, meanwhile waiting her chance to pass some of the powder to Peter as evidence against Krug and Berthe.

There was no recourse for Judy but to walk slowly up the stairs, Sukoa following, the revolver clutched as firmly as his shaking hand would allow, and pointed straight at the frightened girl.

CHAPTER XX

JUDY'S first act was to get the box of powders into her possession. She hid it in her blouse then she hurried back into her patient's room. He seemed to be sleeping. He lay very quietly with his eyes closed.

He was breathing slowly and evenly and Judy felt a throb of relief as she noticed there was color in his cheeks.

There was no doubt that Charles Dirkey was very much improved, he had just been using up his newfound strength too quickly. But her course was open now. That was to get to a telephone, put in a desperate call to the sheriff and then go back to her patient.

CALL THE SHERIFF

When the authorities arrived surely they would take her word and the word of her patient to give them the protection of the law. By that time Peter would be back again. She had the evidence in her possession. It all seemed very easy.

Judy's hand trembled as she opened the slender telephone book to find the sheriff's number.

She had taken down the telephone instrument to put in her call when suddenly an oriental face leered at her from the doorway. Sukoa said with a smirk, "Missy will not find the sheriff in."

"What are you talking about?" Judy was so startled that she dropped the telephone receiver then caught it back into her hand and put it to her ear. There was no buzz to tell her that the instrument was alive.

Sukoa was grinning, his small yellow face malignantly triumphant. "Missy not find the sheriff in. Matter of fact, Miss not locate sheriff. Telephone doesn't say anything, does it?"

"Have you done something to this telephone, Sukoa," Judy asked full significance of the two who entered into her room. Judy a step or two in advance of Sukoa who still covered her with the shakily held revolver. "What in the world are you doing? What's the explanation of this, Sukoa?"

CUT WIRES

"Missy trying to telephone sheriff," Sukoa said. "Sukoa cut the telephone wires."

"You did what?"

"I cut the telephone wires."

"I put a call in for Karl," Berthe screamed, "that's why long distance hasn't called me back. Why, you—what a fool you are. Don't you know this is Dr. Krug's sister?"

Sukoa's Oriental eyes were as wide open as they could possibly be. "Miss tried to telephone the sheriff. She talked with the boss, Mr. Dirkey. He told Missy to telephone for the sheriff."

"Is that true, Greta?" Berthe asked.

"I think we'd better sit down and talk it over," Judy said as calmly as she could under the circumstances, "only I don't feel very much at ease looking at that thing," she indicated the gun in Sukoa's hand.

"Give that to me, Sukoa," Berthe said, "and get out. Miss Krug will explain to me what has happened."

"Missy will lie to you," Sukoa warned. "Don't let Missy lie to you."

"I can look after myself, you look after Mr. Dirkey."

JUDY HAS POWDERS

Sukoa nodded, handed his revolver to Berthe and puttered out of the room. Judy knew an instant's sense of gratitude that she had the terrible box of powders in her possession. At least Sukoa couldn't do any harm with them.

Like a nervous animal Berthe puttered over to the door in her stocking feet. "Now," she said, "tell me the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

"There isn't anything to tell, Berthe," Judy said, determined to get out of this situation any way that she could. "Sukoa just misunderstood, that's all. I was trying to telephone.

"He came in, evidently right after he'd cut the telephone wires, found me trying to telephone, then he pulled the gun on me and made me come up here. That's just about all I know. It's a nice little gang of cut-throats you have around you, Berthe. Does Kari know about this blood-thirsty Sukoa?"

"Don't try to bluff, Greta," Berthe snapped. "To whom were you trying to telephone?"

"Peter," Judy lied.

"He hasn't any telephone, you know that."

"I looked up the depot telephone at Los Mesa. Peter had to go right by there. I thought they might ketch him and ask him to call me back."

CONVINCING STORY

"Why?" The story seemed convincing enough to Berthe.

"I missed my ride this morning. Dirkey is asleep."

"Did you give him his medicine?" Berthe asked.

Judy nodded. This story of hers was beginning to work. If Berthe would believe it, even for a little while, there might be another chance for her to summon the authorities. She was remembering Red down at the mess hall.

But Berthe was not to be thrown off her guard. She said, "O.K., then if you're telling the truth it will all come out eventually. Meanwhile I'll ask you to go to your room and stay there. Karl will be here before the day is over."

"What makes you know that?" In spite of herself Judy started at Berthe's remark.

"Because I couldn't get him over the telephone. He wasn't at his office. The office girl was pretty certain he'd gone out of town. There's only one place he would be going out of town, and that's here. He might have been worried over me."

"That's right, he might," Judy said.

OFFICE GIRL

"Just one thing more," Berthe was watching Judy critically, "what's the name of your brother's office girl?"

"Which one?"

Berthe was temporarily thrown off her guard. "Neither of the nurses, the girl in the reception office, the one who keeps Karl's books."

"I—I don't know her very well," Judy lied. "I guess her name is Helen, isn't it?"

"Hardly," Berthe said coldly, "since he has never employed a girl in the outer office. Karl's receptionist is a man. You'll stay in your room, Miss Ranier, until your precious brother gets here."

80,000 Books Tourist Trade Are Prepared

A 16-page pamphlet publicizing Alberta's tourist attractions is now being prepared for circulation by D. E. C. Campbell, publicity director for the provincial government, and will be distributed shortly, it was reported Saturday. A total of 80,000 copies have been printed.

The publication is well illustrated having four colors outside and two inside. It deals with hunting and fishing and the beauty spots in Alberta which provide a Mecca for vacationists. The pamphlet will be mailed to all parts of the continent.

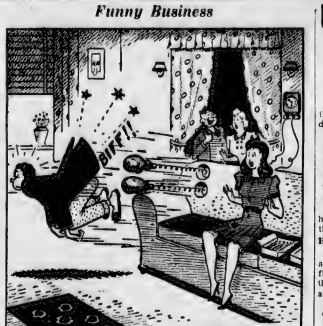

In connection with the tourist trade, it was reported that the recently-formed advisory board of tourist business provided for by order-in-council will meet soon after Easter to discuss methods of promoting tourist travel in the province. Mr. Campbell is contacting board members with a view to obtaining their suggestions on what questions should be discussed when the advisory group meets.

Members of the board are: Mr. Campbell, chairman; R. A. Gradon, Edmonton; H. G. Love, Calgary; Charles Traunweiser, Calgary; Mayor D. H. Elton, K.C., Lethbridge, and Maj. J. A. Wood, superintendent of Jasper National Park.

FIL-Lt. Donovan Ferris, son of Mrs. W. D. Ferris, 12704 102 avenue, has arrived overseas, according to word received here on Saturday. For more than a year prior to going overseas he had been instructing at the R.C.A.F. school at Brantford.

Funny Business

"It's my new davenport thermostat—when it clicks 10:30, it starts them on their way home!"

Transit Groups Need Extra Space

Railway companies found it necessary to provide extra passenger accommodation in order to cope with the heavy Easter week-end traffic out of the city.

City workers taking advantage of the long week-end, men in uniform leaving for their homes on leave and teachers travelling to Calgary to attend the annual provincial convention, filled trains bound for Calgary, the coast and other points east and west Friday and Saturday.

Officials of the C.P.R. reported that their trains were running with extra cars, while the C.N.R. train for Vancouver left Friday morning in two sections. The N.A.R. passenger train from the north came to the city Saturday in two sections.

FIL-Lt. G. R. M. Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Hunt, 12320 104 avenue, who is stationed at Aylmer, Ont., is spending Easter furlough with his parents.

U.S. Engineers Win Race For Northern Road

the north as soon as weather conditions permit the plane to fly.

"The boys have been too busy to get homesick for the north. They are mighty proud in having won the battle against the spring thaw and work on the road itself will be starting any day now," the medical officer stated.

He said the health of the troops has been generally very good since the arrival in the north.

HAVE FIELD HOSPITAL

A field hospital has been set up at Fort St. John but soft landing fields made it dangerous to land the big 24-passenger Douglas there at the present time.

"It was really cold for three days—35 below zero—but it's been good weather ever since. Some of the boys from the far south may have felt the extreme cold but I don't think so, because they were all kept too blamed busy to notice it," the captain said.

The officers in charge of construction estimate the pioneer road will proceed about five miles per day, Capt. Stotts said.

JUST TOO BIG

"Canada is a swell country but it's just too big," Capt. Stevers observed. He paid high tribute to the excellent airfields and airdrome facilities between Edmonton and Alaska.

"Experienced pilots would have no difficulty landing or taking off on those fields," the pilot officer declared.

Capt. Stotts, a native of Kansas, had a pleasant surprise on arriving at the Macdonald. He was greeted by members of the Wichita, Kansas basketball team. It was just like getting back home he said.

NO DROWNING

The officers emphatically denied stories received from Dawson Creek last week, which reported drowning of two soldiers who were said to have gone through the ice in a truck while crossing the Musqua River, north of Fort St. John.

"We heard the report on the radio and a complete checkup was made of all personnel and equipment. There were no men missing and all equipment was accounted for," Capt. Stotts said. He added he was at a loss to account for the story.

Getting Around

miles in area. It is rich in minerals and water power resources. There are also many fertile valleys in the southern portion where farming is carried on with profit.

Of course the fishing industry is the chief source of income to the inhabitants.

Uncle Sam, it seems, drove a lot of hard bargains when those United States of America were in process of being gathered together. Actually much of the early history of the states is a story of real estate deals on a national scale.

Louisiana was secured from France in April of 1803 in the new historic Louisiana Purchase. The U.S. paid $15,000,000 for the state.

Another good deal was put across when Florida was purchased from Spain in 1819 for a paltry $5,000,000.

Alaska, Louisiana and Florida therefore cost the United States in all $27,200,000, or $7,800,000 less than the Alaska highway will cost.

Real estate certainly boomed a lot since the old days didn't it?

And then Texas was secured from Mexico by annexation after the Texans got tired fighting the Mexicans. But the Texans were smart enough to drive a hard deal with Uncle Sam. They were paid $10,000,000 to relinquish their claims to New Mexico.

Of course you've heard the story about Manhatian Island being traded by the Indians for a bottle of whisky. Brooklyn dwellers still claim they were cheated.

More Blood Donors Will Give Service

Twenty-nine volunteer blood donors registered at one depot on Thursday, it was announced Saturday by Robert Muir, secretary-manager of the Edmonton branch of the Red Cross Society under whose auspices the blood-donor service is organized in Edmonton. The registration was at the Garneau theatre lobby depot. Other depots are located in the King Edward hotel building and the Banque Canadienne Nationale building.

Enrolment is progressing favorably, Mr. Muir stated. The drive is being conducted to obtain 4,000 donors between the ages of 21 and 30, and men and women are answering the call.

Blood donated here will be turned over to the blood bank to be established at the University of Alberta, and later shipped to Connaught Laboratories in Toronto, where it will be dried for shipment overseas.

Persons may enroll individually or through organizations and business offices to assist in the obtaining of the badly needed blood serum.

Queen Elizabeth Thanks Citizens

Edmonton and district has contributed "generous and consistent gifts" to the Queen's Canadian Fund for Air Raid Victims it was stated Saturday by John G. McConnell, of Montreal, chairman of the fund in Canada, on the occasion of the first anniversary of the fund's establishment.

In a statement issued, Mr. McConnell stated: "On the first birthday of the Queen's Canadian Fund, and as the Fund reaches the million-dollar mark, the chairman and executive committee wish to offer their profound gratitude to the people of Edmonton for their generous and consistent gifts to aid the civilian war victims of Britain.

"The subscription lists from the province have shown that all sections of the community have contributed, and that the methods of raising money have been most ingenious and varied. It is clear that the people of Alberta appreciate the value to those in distress of spontaneous sympathy and that they realize the importance of maintaining the morale of the civilian defenders of the fortress of Britain.

"I am proud to convey also the grateful thanks of Her Majesty the Queen, as expressed to me recently in London to those who have subscribed towards the splendid total contributions of the Queen's Fund."

ADDITIONAL CHURCH NEWS

Bible Society's Easter Greetings

The British and Foreign Bible Society extends Easter greetings to the great host of friends and supporters in North Alberta Auxiliary.

Last spring the Watkin's Bindery, the Society's binders in London, Eng., was bombed and a considerable stock of printed sheets and paper was destroyed. By the help of the American Bible Society the Bindery has been rebuilt and replenished with the necessary machinery to carry on again as the centre of Bible production.

Wherever the story of the Empty Tomb is heard new spiritual forces are set free in the hearts and minds of men, Christian homes, Christian social relations, Christian neighborliness and Christian missions are the fruits of the story of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ and His promise that we, too, shall be raised from the dead to die no more. In hundreds of Christian centers on the mission fields of the world Easter morning will be hailed by large gatherings of young christian people who, by song and witness, proclaim that "the Lord is risen indeed."

Such are the results of your share in the maintenance of the Bible Society world-wide service.

Two-Day Play For Little Theatre

Depicting the life of the family of Jesus, "Family Portrait" will be presented by the Edmonton Little Theatre in the Masonic Temple on Friday and Saturday, March 10 and 11.

Speaking of the celebrated Easter play, Rev. E. S. Otley of Christ Church said: "It is a play that everyone ought to see. It is indeed a family portrait, showing the reactions of the family of Jesus of Nazareth to the crusade to which their elder brother so completely devoted himself. The changes arising on the theme that 'a prophet is not without honour, save in his own country and in his own house'."

"Family Portrait' is written in modern idiom, which makes it the more understandable and gives us that intimate touch with the carpenter's family that makes it a living play. The sympathetic way the theme is treated ensures that the spirit of that early age is captured. Altogether this is a play which church people, and indeed all of us, ought to see."
